Nineteen Zeros Are Lost as Japanese Try to Raid Island

Suffer Severe Defeat at Hands of American Airmen in Russell Group

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP).—For the second time in three days, Japan's South Pacific air force suffered a severe defeat Monday at the hands of American airmen, the United States Navy reported today.

The enemy lost nineteen Zero fighters out of a flight of forty to fifty fighters and bombers apparently attempting to raid United States positions in the Russell group of the Solomon Islands. In addition six Zeros were damaged. Seven American planes were lost, but three pilots were saved.

A navy communique announced the most recent South Pacific air victory shortly after Navy Secretary Frank Knox said at a press conference that Admiral Ernest J. King naval chief, had conferred with Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific Fleet commander, on plans for the prosecution of the war in the Pacific theatre.

It was assumed that King had informed Nimitz of the overall results of the recent conferences in Washington of Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and their respective military and naval advisers.

The navy communique reporting the fight over the Russell Islands also disclosed the latest information from Attu Island where victorious American Army troops are cleaning up the few remaining Japanese.

The war bulletin said eleven of the enemy troops killed themselves with grenades after they were surrounded in Chichagof Valley Monday. Eight others were killed by American soldiers, and the total known enemy dead through Monday stood at 1,826 for the Attu campaign.

Steel Men To Discuss Situation

Canadian Officials Leave Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, June 8 (CP).—Three Canadian officials of the United Steel Workers of America returned home tonight after conferring here with President Phillip Murray on measures they said were "designed to bring about a satisfactory disposition of the steel crisis in Canada."

The Canadian national director, C. H. Millard, said he and Stanley Hessian, Nova Scotia district director, and John Mitchell, Central Canadian district director, would meet with Canadian Government authorities upon their return to discuss the labor situation, which Millard termed "serious."

In a statement, Millard said:

"As a result of our conferences in Pittsburgh today, Mr. Murray has proposed measures designed to bring about a satisfactory disposition of the steel crisis in Canada.

"While I am not at liberty to state the nature of the measures which it is proposed to adopt I can say they are such that it is quite apparent Mr. Murray is convinced that the Canadian steel workers have been unfairly treated and steps must be taken to deal constructively with the situation before it gets out of hand.

"District Directors Hessian and Mitchell and I will return to Canada at once and steps will be taken to have an international commission meet with the appropriate Canadian authorities without delay."

Axis Reports Say Attack Ineffectual

Claim Landing Force Wiped Out

LONDON, June 8 (AP).—Rome and Berlin reported today that British commandos assaulted the tiny island of Lampedusa on Monday night and were repulsed in the first attempt of Allied forces massed in North Africa to invade Italian soil in the Mediterranean.

Allied military and naval quarters were silent on enemy accounts of the operation. It was regarded in some London quarters as possibly only a forerunner of a series of widespread operations which might precede the main strike.

"The enemy attempted a landing on the island of Lampedusa," said the Italian communique as recorded here in a broadcast. "The attempt was carried out by British units. It was promptly repulsed by our defences which sank several enemy naval vessels."

Lampedusa is a barren bit of desert 120 miles south of Sicily and seventy miles east of the Tunisian coast.

D.N.B., official German news agency, said it was a "strong effort" by about five companies of commandos and the German communique said it was an attempt to occupy the seven-mile-long island "by a coup de main."

The communique implied that the attempt had gained at least some initial success by declaring that the forces which landed were wiped out.

Lampedusa is the southernmost of the Italian stepping stones dotting the Mediterranean between Tunisia and the European mainland.

Lampedusa once was regarded by Mussolini as an unsinkable Italian aircraft carrier and base for submarines. But last February Malta-based aircraft were reported to have knocked out these bases.

AGE LIMIT RAISED

OTTAWA, June 8 (CP).—Defence Headquarters announced tonight that the age limit for students planning to attend the second Canadian Army university course, starting next September, has been raised from twenty to twenty-two years. The course now is available to students from seventeen to twenty-two years of age who have matriculation standing and are in "A" medical category.

COMMISSIONER SHOT

LONDON, June 8 (CP).—The German radio quoted advices from Tokio today as saying that Jose Laurel, Commissioner for the Interior on the Philippine Executive Council, had been shot in the back while playing golf last Saturday. Laurel is confined to a hospital but his wound is not regarded as dangerous.

Stern Action Against Zoot Suit Rowdies

Seaman Blackjacked And Knifed in Fight

LOS ANGELES, June 8 (AP).—Naval, army and civilian authorities took stern action today to stem a spreading wave of rioting between men of the armed services and roving bands of youths whose most conspicuous badge is the zoot suit with its ankle-hugging trousers cuff and knee-length coat.

The 11th Naval District, acting after Donald Jackson, twenty, a seaman, had been blackjacked and slashed across the abdomen in a fracas with four or five youths, issued orders barring sailors on liberty from the entire city. Military police and city police were augmented.

Most of the youths who have figured in battles with the servicemen are of Mexican descent, and Churchill Murray, Pacific Coast director for the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs, said he had telephoned a report to Washington.

Friday night an automobile convoy of seamen, numbering about 200, roamed the East Side district, seeking out zoot suiters and attacking them with fists and rope ends.

There have been numerous instances of seamen and soldiers reporting having been slugged and robbed by young marauders.

Roosevelt Says Swift Retaliation to Follow Any Use of Poison Gas

Reports Persist of Axis Nations Making Significant Preparations

WASHINGTON, June 8 (CP).—On the eve of big-scale military operations in Europe, President Roosevelt declared today that the Axis nations are making "significant preparations" for the use of poison gas, and promised "full and swift retaliation in kind" if they proceed with their plans.

In a statement read to his press conference, the President said: "Evidence that the Axis powers are making significant preparations indicative of such an intention (to use poisonous or noxious gases) is being reported with increasing frequency from a variety of sources . . .

"As President of the United States and as commander-in-chief of the American armed forces, I want to make it clear beyond all doubt to any of our enemies contemplating a resort to such desperate and barbarous methods that acts of this nature committed against any one of the United Nations will be regarded as having been committed against the United States itself and will be treated accordingly.

FULL AND SWIFT WILL BE REPLY

"We promised to any perpetrators of such crimes full and swift retaliation in kind and I feel obliged now to warn Axis armies and Axis peoples, in Europe and in Asia, that the terrible consequences of any use of these inhumane methods on their part will be brought down swiftly and surely upon their own heads.

"Any use of gas by any Axis power, therefore, will immediately be followed by the fullest possible retaliation upon munition centres, seaports and other military objectives throughout the whole extent of the territory of such Axis country."

The statement was regarded as peculiarly significant because of its timing. It was issued while an invasion of European territory seems imminent and when the whole course of the war in Europe may be approaching a crisis, not only in the Mediterranean but on the Russian front.

There can be no doubt of the ability of the United States to use gas if forced into this method of waging war, Major-Gen. William N. Porter, chief of the army's chemical warfare department, announced a short time

All Is Ready For Invasion Of Continent

Churchill Discloses Big Operations Near

LONDON, June 8 (AP).—Winston Churchill, as though raising at last the bright signal that will send the invading Allied armies plunging forward, told the world today that amphibious attacks on "a peculiar complexity and hazard on a large scale" are near at hand in the European theatre—operations already "fitted into their proper place in relation to the general war."

All is in readiness for this grand assault, he made clear in a report to the House of Commons, in which he declared the Allied submarine position was getting better and better, and suggested, although throwing this out with his customary conservative qualifications, that the prospective defeat of the U-boat might mean the moral and actual defeat of the Germans.

The Prime Minister stood confident before Commons—reflecting, as he had put it in another connection, that "mellow light to victory" which he saw playing over the Allied cause—and gave to the members the most confident review in the years of his war leadership.

Telling of a British-American strategy and unity of war purpose "brought into full focus and punch" in the Washington negotiations recently concluded with President Roosevelt, Mr. Churchill proclaimed that the time of decision is now at hand.

Awarded V.C. for Valor in Africa

LONDON, June 8 (CP).—Lieut.-Col. Lorne McLain Campbell won the Victoria Cross today for leading an attack at the Wadi Akarit in North Africa that carried through a mine field, took an important hill and 600 prisoners. The highest British award, the sixty-sixth of this war, went to the forty-year-old officer for a "display of valor and utter disregard for personal safety." At Dunkerque he won the D.S.O.

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, June 8.—The Allied air offensive against Italy and Italian islands continues unabated, and Pantelleria is bombed night and day. Enemy fighter opposition has increased, says The Times' correspondent in North Africa, but it has been broken up without difficulty.

According to the Rome radio, the Italians "are itching to meet their foes," and the Allies' attacks only make resistance the more stubborn.

Meanwhile, the Fascist party in Italy and the Nazi party in Germany are expelling members for various offences.

In Italy the Fascists have been dismissed for aiding British prisoners, for bribery and luxurious living, or for running away from bombs.

In Germany they are to be thrown out of the Nazi party merely for "grumbling and wavering." No one not 100 per cent Nazi is to be tolerated, if one is to judge from declarations in party newspapers.

Premier Churchill's main domestic task, now that he is safely home again, will include selection of a new Viceroy for India, for which post The Times' parliamentary correspondent hints a member of the Cabinet may be chosen.

On the challenge to the Government by the Civil Service Union's demanding affiliation to the Trades Union Congress, The Times says it is hasty, ill-advised and unconstitutional. The Trades Disputes Act, which the labor movement regards bitterly as an unfair restriction on its expansion, could always be amended. But the Trades Union Congress preferred to raise the issue of the rights of the civil service by defying the law, and thus places itself in a position of resorting to old-time political action, which their new status as partners in industry should have prevented.

The excuse that constitutional resources have been exhausted does not hold good, as Parliament as a whole has never been consulted.

* * *

Dealing with Japan's campaign in China, The Times says the Japanese attempt to capture Chungking has been a costly failure. Nanking Quisling forces deserted to the patriotic Chinese, bringing over with them valuable information and equipment, and the Chinese Air Force also hit some shrewd blows.

Chungking is now out of danger and 100,000 Japanese troops have had to retire, losing heavily and in danger of encirclement in the Ichang area.

France, for the first time since her collapse, has now what is virtually a provisional cabinet in charge of affairs in her overseas Empire. The new Committee of Liberation is widely representative of French opinion, and General Catroux describes the unity achieved as "regenerating the power of France."

Both sides continue to hit hard in the air on the Russian front. The Red Army's aircraft have bombed German trains, supply dumps and communications behind the enemy lines in the Orel region, while the Germans have raided Gorki on the Volga, losing twelve bombers in the process.

"The whole front," says Colonel Vasiliev in a Moscow broadcast, "is in a state of tension from the Barents Sea to Novorossisk."

INONU TO SPEAK

ANKARA, June 8 (AP).—President Ismet Inonu will address the People's Party Congress tomorrow in what Turkish quarters said would be a speech of considerable importance, dealing with the international situation as well as internal affairs.

Cargo Vessel Hit by Allied Heavy Planes

Japanese Shipping Off Soemba Raided

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 9 (Wednesday) (CP).—A 5,000-ton cargo ship was damaged by Allied heavy bombers in a raid on Japanese shipping off Soemba, Netherlands East Indies, the High Command announced today.

Soemba is an island in the lesser Sunda group more than 900 miles west of Darwin.

Flying boats attacked Babo 750 miles north of Darwin in Dutch New Guinea, setting off explosions and scoring hits on the airdrome runway.

The heavy bombers struck at the harbor of Waingpoae and two 500-pound bombs fell near the 5,000-ton ship.

On Portuguese Timor the area of Dili was attacked by medium bombers. Fires also were started at Kupang. Dili and Kupang are roughly 400 miles northwest of Darwin.

Medium bombers made the attack on Babo and also struck at nearby Kaimana. The explosions set off at Babo were so great that they rocked the attacking planes at an altitude of 6,000 feet.

Germans Suffer Setbacks in Two River Battles at Hands Of Relentless Soviet Armies

Violent Air Raids Shake Pantelleria

Italian Island Blasted For Sixteenth Day

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 8 (CP).—Italy's anti-invasion outpost at Pantelleria, 180 miles from the Italian mainland, underwent violent air attacks again yesterday and it was disclosed that American fighter-bombers have a novel technique to blast the enemy from underground hideouts in the island's volcanic mountains.

Adapting the tactic of low-level "skip bombing" used against enemy ships at sea, United States flyers have begun hammering Pantelleria's subterranean aircraft hangars by aiming steel-shelled packets of explosives against the cave entrances.

The dispatch did not elaborate, but apparently the new mode of attack was designed to strike directly at the cavern hangars, skipping the bombs across the land like pebbles across the water, instead of attempting to smash through deep layers of rock by direct overhead assault.

SIXTEENTH SUCCESSIVE DAY OF ATTACKS

It was the sixteenth successive day of aerial bombardment of the island, which lies about midway between Tunisia and Sicily on the trans-Mediterranean "invasion route" to Italy.

Smoke clouds which drifted as far as the Sicilian coast, sixty-five miles away, rose to a height of 4,000 feet over the northwest shore of the island yesterday.

Since the Axis High Command sent German and Italian fighters back to Pantelleria last Saturday to wage a defence, twenty-two have been shot down.

Ten Axis aircraft were destroyed yesterday, while only two Allied planes have been lost in the Pantelleria area since Saturday morning.

Martial Law In Argentine Now Is Lifted

BUENOS AIRES, June 8 (AP).—The new Government of Gen. Pedro Ramirez tonight lifted the decree of martial law and issued an official statement that Argentine rapprochement with other American republics would be accomplished by acts "which will draw us even nearer to our American brothers."

"The Argentine attitude toward the war is considered to have been sufficiently clarified in a statement made yesterday by the Provisional Government," it added.

In yesterday's statement the Government said it would maintain neutrality "for the present."

Danger Eliminated

CHUNGKING, June 8 (AP).—The successful Chinese counter-offensive which thwarted a Japanese drive toward Chungking has eliminated the danger to the great rice bowl area of Central China, an army spokesman disclosed today as the Chinese High Command announced the complete occupation of Itu, Yangtze River port eighteen miles below Ichang.

Further progress in the Chinese advance toward Sungtze, river port between Shasi and Ichang, was reported in the communique which announced the recapture of several strategic points to the south.

Nazi Airports Pounded Again In Unabated Aerial Warfare

LONDON, June 8 (CP).—Two sharp river battles, with the Germans driven across a river on the western front and repulsed at a waterway south of Kharkov, were reported by the Russians tonight, while German airports and the Soviet industrial city of Gorki were pounded again in the unabated aerial war.

The Germans, meanwhile, broadcast the surprising and unconfirmed claim that nearly 550,000 Russians had been killed in four great battles in the Western Caucasus in the last forty-five days, claiming losses which would far surpass the German debacle at Stalingrad. This assertion was circulated only through the Nazi propaganda channels and was not supported by the German High Command or even discussed by the more responsible German "military quarters" as quoted by the Berlin radio.

In the river battle on the western front, Red Army units attacked Nazi forces entrenched on the left bank, and "as a result of the fighting the enemy suffered heavy losses and were thrown back to the right bank of the river," said the Tuesday midnight communique recorded by the Soviet radio monitor.

ATTEMPT TO CROSS DONETS

The Germans attacked in the Lisichansk area, some 125 miles southeast of Kharkov, attempting to cross the Northern Donets River, but Soviet troops wiped out the enemy troops in their boats, the bulletin added.

Another sharp German attack in the Volkhov sector south of Leningrad was driven back, with 150 Nazis killed or wounded, the Russians said.

The Moscow radio said "large forces" of Soviet long-range bombers blasted German airports Monday night, successfully bombing "a large number" of German planes, ammunition and fuel dumps, with "especially heavy explosions registered on the airfield north of Bryansk."

The broadcast, recorded by The Associated Press, said German planes again attempted to raid Gorki, big industrial centre 256 miles east of Moscow, with bombs striking dwellings and with seven enemy bombers shot down.

The Germans claimed aerial reconnaissance showed that the big "Molotoff" tank factory at Gorki had been "almost completely destroyed," with Nazi bombers completing the destruction Monday night.

Beats Gestapo

Chief of the British Trades Union Congress, who has recently completed a tour of Nazi-occupied countries in Europe and contacted leading democratic elements in Central European and Balkan nations, laying the ground work for action in these places when the United Nations begin their long-awaited invasion of the continent. BULLETIN

SHIPPING ATTACKED

LONDON, June 8 (CP).—Enemy shipping off the Netherlands coast and barges in Holland were attacked and damaged today by R.A.F. Mustangs, Typhoons and Spitfires, the Air Ministry announced tonight. The R.C.A.F. announced the loss of one Spitfire in an attack on canal barges.

Three Facing Swindle Charge

PHILADELPHIA, June 8 (AP).—Warrants for the arrest of three officials of a Toronto firm on charges of swindling investors through the sale of stock in non-existent aircraft factories, tin mines and oil developments were issued today by Magistrate Nathan Beifel.

Named in the warrants, sworn out by Arthur J. Spragg, chief investigator for the Pennsylvania Securities Commission, were W. R. Marchmont, president of Redmond & Co., Ltd.; J. N. S. Dixon, vice-president of the firm, and J. E. S. Shelton, secretary-treasurer.

Spragg said investors in the Philadelphia area were swindled of at least $50,000.

BOSTON, June 8 (CP).—Dr. Albert Field Gilmore, C.B.S., a trustee of the Christian Science Publishing Society, died today at his home here. During 1922-23 he was president of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

WHERE CHINESE SCORE BIG GAIN

BACKED by an American-Chinese air force which shot down Japanese planes at a rate of fourteen to one, Chinese armies have recaptured Changyang and Chikiang (1), reaching the south bank of the Yangtze River. The Japanese base at Ichang is threatened and positions at Kungan (2) are surrounded. Another Chinese force has taken the Japanese base at Hwangmei (3). The victory has cost the enemy 30,000 men.

Wants Canada To Keep Navy For All Time

Makes Proposals in Estimates Debate

OTTAWA, June 8 (CP).—Canada should move forward in the development of a navy and a merchant marine knowing it is a great maritime power, a two-ocean nation, G. G. McGeer (Lib., Vancouver Burrard) said in the House of Commons tonight.

Speaking in continued debate on the $489,145,000 Navy Department estimate for the fiscal year 1943-44, Mr. McGeer said Canada must never become "canoe-minded" again and must be prepared to carry its goods "to the end of the line of distribution and return."

He suggested a "Magna Charta" for the Canadian navy to ensure Canada would never again be short of naval strength or a merchant marine service. The sea-going future of every Canadian boy should be assured in the future with Canadian ships travelling the seven seas under the Canadian flag.

In the debate tonight, Navy Minister Macdonald said he had not been misled by friendly remarks concerning him made earlier by T. L. Church (Prog. Con., Toronto Broadview) and read from old Hansards quoting Mr. Church as saying that the Canadian navy had been "locked in a garage" on the east coast.

Replying, Mr. Church said he had never called Mr. Macdonald his friend. He did not believe in a separate Navy Department and considered it "a sink-hole for public money."

MUST CARE FOR YOUNG HEROES

Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) said Canada, while taking pride in her navy expansion, should see the young men, now heroes, were cared for after the war.

Mr. McGeer said that before the war it had been suggested to spend $30,000,000 on defence in a year was going beyond Canada's needs.

Today Canada had $1,000,000,000 in debt-free money in the Bank of Canada, owned by the country.

Mr. McGeer said he was glad the minister had recognized the Pacific Coast's importance. He had located

Churchill Says Allied Armies Work as One as Time for Big Amphibious Operations Near

LONDON, June 8 (CP)—The text of Prime Minister Churchill's report to the House of Commons today follows: As the Allied war effort passes into the offensive phase and its scale and pace grow continually, more frequent consultations between the staffs and those concerned with high control become necessary.

In January, 1942, broad agreements on principle and on our joint or respective tasks were reached at our conference in Washington. In the meeting these took a sharper point and among other things the operations in North Africa began to shape themselves. In October and November action occurred at Casablanca. In January of this year the President and I, with combined British and United States staffs, were able to survey new scenes and wider prospects. Plans and programmes were approved which have by no means yet been accomplished.

Nevertheless, as the progress of events became more rapid and the armies marched faster than had been foreseen, it became necessary to explore a new field.

To have the initiative is an immense advantage. At the same time it is a heavy and exacting responsibility. Left to itself, opportunity may easily lead to emergency.

Therefore, having consulted the President, I thought it necessary at the beginning of May to go with our chiefs of staff and a very large body of officers and secretaries, nearly 100, for the third time to Washington in order that the success then imminent in Tunisia should be examined and comprehended from the common viewpoint and then turned to the best possible account.

EVERY PHASE OF WAR IS STUDIED

At Washington the entire expanse of the world war on which mellow light of victory now begins to play was laid open to British and American leaders. We have shown that we can work together. We have shown that we can face disaster. We have still to show that we can keep ourselves at the height and level of successful events and to be worthy of good fortune.

Perhaps that may be the hardest task of all. It would not be right, of course, for me to attempt to give even in outline an account of the decisions which we reached. All I can say is that we have done our best.

A complete agreement about forward steps has been reached between the two Governments.

There have been no sort of differences such as occurred in the last war—inevitable on account of the forces at work—between the politicians and the military men.

I shall make no predictions as to what will happen in the future and still less in the near future.

All I can say is, Anglo-American policy, strategy and economy were brought into the full focus and punch in those fifteen days' talks at Washington.

The elaboration of modern war renders these prolonged discussions necessary. A conference lasting a day or two, such as sufficed in previous wars, is no longer sufficient to cover the ground and test the different propositions.

As I have said, very large numbers of officers expert in their different branches are required at the various levels to be in close consultation. This gives the best chances to the troops and the sailors and airmen wherever they may be from Gibraltar to New Guinea and from the Aleutian Islands to the Burma Road.

MANY PROBLEMS TO BE OVERCOME

In so vast and diverse a scene many questions of emphasis and priority arise even where principles are agreed upon, and beneath them lie all those problems of transportation, of munitions, of industry, of the food of nations, of the distribution and application of resources, most of which questions can best be settled, and many of which can only be settled, at the summit of the war's direction and which at that summit present themselves in fairly simple and yet at the same time in somewhat awe-inspiring forms.

After we had completed our task at Washington I thought it well to go to North Africa and I was very glad that the President decided to send along with me Gen. Marshall, chief of the United States Army and Air Force, a man of singular eminence of mind and character.

We flew together across the Atlantic to Gibraltar and Algiers in order to deal more particularly and precisely on the spot with the problems of the Mediterranean theatre.

There for another week we had the advantage of full discussions with Gen. Eisenhower, the supreme commander, with Gen. Alexander, Admiral Cunningham, Air Chief Marshal Tedder, Air Marshal Conyngham, Gen. Montgomery, Gen. Spaatz, Gen. Bedell and other high British and United States officers directly concerned with the execution of plans—of plans which I can best describe as directed to the application upon the enemy of force in its most intense and violent forms.

CONFIDENCE IN NORTH AFRICA

I can assure the House that the most complete concord and confidence prevails at Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters and the forces of the two great nations of the English-speaking world are working together literally as if they were one single army.

I was told by the officers of both countries that in the movement of troops or the distribution of supplies no questions of national origin arise between the staff officers who are interleaved at every stage and tier of the vast organization.

It is just a question of what is the best thing to do—that and no more.

The commanders are men in the full tide of successful experiment. They are proud of the troops they lead and are resolute on the plans they have made.

In travelling about these armies and seeing perhaps 20,000 troops and airmen in a day, I sustained the impression of their extraordinary ardor and zeal to engage the enemy again at the earliest moment.

Vast armies have come into being in this Africa war and to become conscious of their spirit is an ennobling influence for a visitor. Cheered by the remarkable victory after many bafflings and disappointments, the British and American armies and now the new French army have become a most powerful and finely tempered weapon.

They have full confidence in themselves and also in the High Command in the war direction. This is also true of the more numerous and powerful forces—British, Canadian, and American—which have formed and are forming in the United Kingdom.

It is evident that amphibious operations of a peculiar complexity and hazard on a large scale are approaching.

NO GUARANTEE OF FUTURE ACTIONS

I can give no guarantee any more than I have done in the past of what will happen. I am sorry that a few days ago in the press of travel and affairs I let slip the expression "brilliant prospects lie before us." I would prefer to substitute the words "brighter and solid prospects lie before us."

That I think would be more appropriate and becoming in such anxious days.

Yet all the same I have good hopes that neither Parliament nor the Congress of the United States will find themselves ill-served by their forces whether in the British Isles or on the African shore.

At any rate I can assure the House that on neither side, British nor American, have any narrow or selfish motives entered into the common task. The rest I must leave to action and to the march of events.

When I visited Tripolitania in January I had the pleasure of seeing the troops of the Eighth Army, whom I had met beforehand in the now far-off El Alamein position before their victory and marvellous advance across the desert.

I was particularly glad on this last occasion to meet the men of the First Army who, after a very hard time in the rainy Winter, have come into their own and who had the honor with their comrades of the Second United States Army Corps of striking the final blow.

BRITISH LOSSES IN TUNISIA SEVERE

The British losses in Tunisia have been severe.

The Eighth Army since they crossed the frontier of Tripolitania have sustained about 11,500 casualties and the First Army about 23,500 casualties.

In all, 37,000 were killed, missing and wounded during the campaign of the two British armies.

The total number of prisoners taken who have passed through the cages of the Allies now amounts to more than 248,000—an increase of 24,000 on the previous published total.

There must certainly have been 50,000 of enemy killed, making a total loss of about 300,000 men to the enemy since Tunisia alone.

More than half of these men are Germans.

In fact, of 37,000 prisoners taken by the U.S. 2nd Corps—actually it was more the size of an army than a corps—33,000 were Germans.

The French 19th Corps also led tens of thousands of Germans and Italians captives to the rear and must have felt after all their country had gone through that they were once again reliving the great days of Foch and Clemenceau.

All this takes no account of the very heavy tolls taken of German and Italian forces as they crossed over the sea or passed through the air. This toll was taken by the Allied Air Force and by the British submarines, cruisers, destroyers and motor torpedo boats.

This British naval force at the same time caused an impassable barrier between the enemy in Tunisia and all prospects of escape. During the latter phases the fixed patrol was maintained in a force which would have prevented any attempt at escape except by individuals. In fact, I believe only 638 persons have escaped, and these for most part by air, on this scene of surrender.

GERMANY SUFFERED GREAT DISASTERS

One cannot doubt that both Stalingrad and Tunisia are the greatest military disasters that have ever befallen Germany in all the wars she has made, and they are many.

There is no doubt from the statements of captured generals that Hitler expected his Tunisian army to hold out at least till August and that this was the view and intention of the German High Command.

The suddenness of the collapse of these great numbers of brave and skilful fighting men, with every form of excellent equipment, must be regarded as significant, and in a sense characteristic of the German psychology, which was shown after Jena and also at the very end of the last war.

Though this fact should certainly be noted and weighed, no undue expectations should be based upon it. We are prepared to win this war by hard fighting and if necessary by hard fighting alone.

In years of peace peoples of the British Commonwealth and those of the United States were an easy-going folk wishing to live a free life, with active politics and other opportunities of innocent diversion—and of national self-improvement.

They do not covet anything from others, perhaps because they have enough themselves, and they have even failed to keep a good look out upon their own safety.

They have martial qualities but they certainly do not like to drill. Nevertheless when they are attacked and assaulted and forced in defence of their life and liberty to make war and to subject all their habits of life to war conditions and to war discipline, they are not incapable, if time is granted to them—and time was granted to them—of making the necessary transformation.

Indeed a great many of them are taking to it with increasing zeal and zeal.

UNITED NATIONS TO BECOME STRONGER

Such nations do not become exhausted by war. On the contrary they get stronger as it goes on. It is an error on the part of certain neutrals to suppose that the previously unprepared and ill-armed Anglo-Saxon democracies will emerge from this war weakened and prostrate even though victorious.

On the contrary, we shall be stronger than ever before, in force, and I trust, also in faith.

It may well be that these guilty races that trumpeted the glories of war at the beginning will be extolling the virtues of peace before the end. It would certainly seem right, however, that those who fix on their own terms the moment for beginning wars should not be the same men who fix on their own terms the moment for ending them.

These observations are of general character but not without their particular application.

I must not neglect to make it clear that operations now impending in the European theatre have been fitted into their proper place in relation to the general war.

I am very sorry that we have not yet been able to bring into counsel Marshal Stalin or other representatives of our great ally Russia, which is bearing the heaviest burden and paying by far the highest price in blood and life.

But I can assure the House that taking some of the weight off Russia and giving more speedy and effective aid to China and giving a stronger measure of security to our beloved Australia and New Zealand—these are never absent for one moment from our thoughts and aims.

This war is so universal and world wide it would take several hours to make an exposition of what is happening in various theatres.

SUBMARINES PLACED AS BIGGEST MENACE

Each of the Allies naturally sees these theatres from a different angle and in a somewhat different relation. We British must continue to place the anti-U-boat war first because it is only by conquering the U-boats that we can live and act.

The might of America is deployed far over the Pacific and is laying an ever-stronger grip on the outlying defences of Japan and offering every moment to the Japanese fleet the supreme challenge of sea power.

Russian armies, as I mentioned to the Congress the other day, are in deadly grapple with what we estimate to be 190 German and twenty-eight satellite divisions along their 2,000 miles of front. It is here that the greatest battles seem to impend. Then there is the war in the air. The steady wearing down of German and Japanese air forces is proceeding remorselessly. The enemy who thought that air would be their weapon of victory are now finding in it the first cause of their ruin.

It is necessary for me to make it plain so far as the British Government and the Governments of the Dominions and also the Government of the United States and of the Russian Soviet Republic are concerned, nothing will turn us from our endeavor and intention to accomplish the complete destruction of our foes by bombing from the air in addition to all other methods.

Loud and lamentable outcries are being made by the enemy now that this form of warfare by which they thought to obtain the mastery of the world has turned markedly to their disadvantage. These outcries will only be regarded by us as a very satisfactory proof of the growing efficiency of our attack.

Compared with this time last year, we British alone can now drop more than double the weight of bombs at the 1,500-mile range there and back.

In the Summer of last year, as Minister of Defence, I set on foot a policy of increasing our bomber effort which of course entails certain sacrifices in other directions. All that is now coming into hand.

At the same time we took the measures which have thrown the very long range air power—VLR as it is called—effectively into the anti-U-boat struggle. All this is now being brought to bear.

MAY BEST MONTH IN U-BOAT CAMPAIGN

The month of May has from every point of view been the best month we have ever had in the anti-U-boat war since the United States was attacked by Japan, Germany and Italy. At that time we gained much greater combined resources but we exposed much larger targets. We made at that time a budget of sinkings and buildings on which we knew we could survive indefinitely.

Sinkings have been greatly less than we apprehended and buildings have more than made good the prodigious programmes undertaken by the American nation.

This month of May has been one of the very best for imports carried safely into this island since the end of 1941. Our combined new buildings has exceeded our losses by more than three to one.

This first week in June could not possibly be taken as a criterion but as a matter of fact it is the best ever for many, many months past.

During the last few months the enemy made very heavy attacks on our convoys. This has given us the opportunity to hit him hard in open battle. There are so many U-boats employed now that it is almost impossible not to run into one or another of these great fields or screens of U-boats which are spread out.

Therefore you have to fight your way through but there is no reason why we should regret that. On the contrary it is around convoys that U-boats can best be destroyed.

New weapons and new methods and close co-ordination of effort between surface and air escorts have enabled us to inflict casualties which have surpassed all previous records.

The First Lord of the Admiralty made a statement of very reassuring character upon this subject the other day, and I can only repeat that in May for the first time our killings of U-boats substantially outnumbered the U-boat output. That may be a fateful milestone. The Germans seem to be staking their hopes upon the U-boat war, we may judge by appeals made to them. They are encouraged to bear the evils—the terror, as they call it, perhaps not an ill-chosen word—of the air bombardment by the hopes that on the sea the U-boats are taking their revenge.

If it should be made clear that this hope has failed them they may be seriously disappointed, and they are a people who when seriously disappointed do not always find resources to confront approaching disaster once their reason tells them it is inevitable.

Again I say—I make the observation in passing—do not let us build on such deductions.

It would be foolish to assume that the good results of a single month are a guarantee of a continuing process.

EXPECTS SUMMER TO BE FAVORABLE

We may have setbacks, though I have always looked forward to this Summer as being a period which would be favorable to us.

Moreover, of course, the enemy may decline battle or we may look only for the most tempting opportunities. In this case we shall have fewer killings but more imports, and the freer movement of troops and munitions will be possible to all the various theatres.

I must say I feel confident that the U-boat war will not stand between the United Nations and their final victory, while all the time the air war will grow in weight and severity. I might well speak with more emphasis upon this point but it is prudent to forebear.

I have touched on these matters connected with the war. It happened at the time when I was in Algiers that Gen. De Gaulle and his friends arrived and I thought it would be well if the Foreign Secretary were on the spot in case it should be proved in our power to help.

We did not in fact intervene at all in those tense discussions between the French, but like Gen. Eisenhower, the supreme commander, we watched closely and vigilantly in the light of British and United States interests, and of the well-being of our armies in North Africa.

We all rejoiced when the agreement was made and the French National Committee of Liberation was set up and constituted as the single and sole authority for all Frenchmen seeking to free France from the German yoke.

When we met these seven men by and around whom the new French Cabinet has been formed, one cannot but be struck by the many different aspects of French energy and capacity to resist which they represented, and also by their high personal qualities.

So the gravest responsibility lies upon these men and opportunities shine brightly before them. They have only to act together in good faith and loyalty to one another and to set aside sectional or personal interests and to keep all their hatreds for the enemy—they have only to do this to help to regain for France her inheritance, and in doing so become themselves inheritors of the gratitude of future generations of Frenchmen.

Formation of this committee with its collective responsibility supersedes the situation created by the correspondence between Gen. De Gaulle and myself in 1940. Our dealings, financial and otherwise, will henceforward be with the committee as a whole. There is a further and larger question, namely the degree of recognition of this committee as representatives of France. These questions require consideration from the British and the United States Governments, but if things go well I should hope that a solution satisfactory to all parties may shortly be reached.

GIVES IMPRESSIONS OF DELIBERATIONS

Let me now sum up the two predominant impressions that I have sustained from this journey.

First is the spirit and quality and organization of the British and Allied armies in North Africa. Second is the intimacy and strength of ties now uniting the British and the United States Governments and the British and American peoples. All sorts of divergencies, all sorts of differences of outlook, all sorts of awkward little jars necessarily occur as we roll ponderously forward together along the rough and broken road of war, but none of these makes the slightest difference to our growing concert and unity, and there are none of them that cannot be settled face to face by heart to heart talks and patient argument.

My own relations with the illustrious President of the United States have become in these years of war those of a personal friendship and regard, and nothing will ever happen to separate us in the comradeship and partnership of thought and action while we remain responsible for the conduct of affairs. The reason why I have not to make a longer speech today is that I have already given to the joint sessions of the Congress of the United States the statement which I should have made to this House on the victories in Tunisia had I been in this country. That, I think, is the valid explanation.

Certainly when I found myself walking into that august assembly, the free Congress of the most powerful community in the world, and when I gave them, exactly as I would do in this House, a businesslike stocktaking survey of the war and of our joint interests, even touching upon controversial matters, or matters of domestic controversy over there, and when I thought of our common history and of the hopes that lie before us, I felt this was an age of memorable importance to mankind.

For there can be no doubt that whatever world organization is brought into being after this war, that organization must be richer and stronger if it is founded on the fraternal relations and the deep understanding prevailing and now growing between the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States.

I have one thing more to say before sitting down. I must acknowledge with gratitude the extraordinary kindness with which I have been treated both by the House and out-of-doors throughout the land. And that is a very great help in these days of continuing crisis and storm.

Let me in return record the fact that this House is a democratic institution founded upon universal suffrage, a House which has preserved its function and authority intact and undiminished during the war and has shown it can change, correct and sustain governments with equal consistency of purpose. It has proved itself a foundation and an instrument for the waging of successful war and for the safety of the state, never surpassed in modern or ancient times.

Sackville's Battle With U-Boat Pack Was Hectic

Work of Commander and Crewmen Won Them Awards—Strange Set of Gunners Brings Laugh

A NORTHERN IRELAND PORT, June 8 (CP).—Details of one of the Royal Canadian Navy's most hectic anti-submarine actions of the war, one which brought a Distinguished Service Cross, a Distinguished Service Medal and five mentions in dispatches to officers and men of the corvette Sackville, now are available.

Navy Minister Macdonald announced the action in Ottawa last November, but gave no details.

The Sackville was credited with one submarine "almost certainly destroyed" and one "probably damaged" from this action after remarkable exhibitions of seamanship and gunnery.

The awards list gave a D.S.C. to her commander, Lieut. Allan Easton, of Montreal; a D.S.M. to Leading Seaman Kenneth A. Medford, of Montreal, and mentions to Lieut. Tony Osborne, of Vancouver; L.S. George Saunders, of Montreal; Sub-Lieut. Neil Chapman, of Pembroke, Ont.; Acting S.P.O. James Allison, of Halifax, and E.R.A. Robert Stuart, of Ottawa.

LIEUTENANT TELLS OF FURIOUS BATTLE

Lieut. Easton had been posted elsewhere before the Sackville put in here after her most recent Atlantic escort job but Lieut. Colin Carruthers, of Kelowna, B.C., his first lieutenant, told how this furious anti-sub battle went on through two days after it started near Iceland.

"The first alarm came when the rear ship in our group was torpedoed," he said. "We did a pattern offensive with undetermined results before we were ordered aft to lay a screen around the convoy and we lost contact. But a little later the skipper sighted a submarine on the surface some distance away and we went into action again, dropping depth charges. But we lost contact again for a while.

"There's no telling whether the next one was the same sub, of course, but we had another contact a little later and dropped charges again without apparent result.

THINGS REALLY STARTED THEN

"Then the business really started in earnest. The convoy was attacked again and we picked up a contact. They seemed all around us. I don't know how many there were but it was plenty. We sighted another and turned to ram. The sub crash-dived before we could get a real piece of him but we scraped against his side while he was diving and dropped a flock of charges set for a fifty-foot explosion. This time we had better luck.

"Hardly any time after the charges blew, we saw the nose of the sub come out of the water quite near to us, cocked at an angle of about 45 degrees. We threw another charge which dropped against his conning tower and should have done the trick.

"The fourth attack came after we picked up a contact.

"We attacked, lost the contact, picked up another again at 700 yards, and attacked again. We heard an underwater explosion that wasn't a depth charge. We figured we had that one, too.

"We were just prowling around trying to pick some oil samples from the water around—the sub's oil, we were sure—when we sighted another. This one was quite near another corvette which was towing a tanker which had been disabled by torpedoes. We turned to ram but missed. We were firing heavily and then came something you don't often get in the middle of action—a good laugh.

NOTICE STRANGE SET OF GUNNERS

"All of a sudden we noticed what a strange set of gunners we had. Manning the Lewis gun was an English steward, Claude Mantagni, in perfect naval dress. He had his hat set squarely on his head, his collar and tie nicely adjusted and he was handling the Lewis gun with all the delicacy of a bank clerk. But he was getting results—spraying that sub's deck with his gun and keeping the Jerries away from theirs.

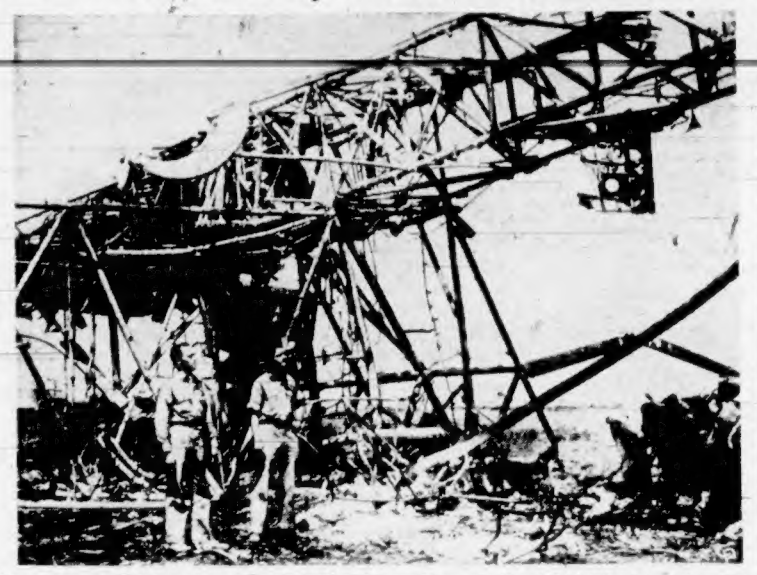

"And one Oerlikon was blasting away all over the place—with an excitable French-Canadian named Laviolette (Leading Seaman Clayton Laviolette, of Montreal) firing like a wild man. But the other wasn't firing at all! This gunner, Stephenson (L.S. Tom Stephenson, of Mount Dennis, Ont.), is just the opposite of Laviolette. He was aiming carefully but wasn't firing.

"Everybody started yelling at him at once, bellowing 'Fire!' at the top of our voices, but this guy didn't hurry a bit. He just swung that gun around slowly until he had it where he wanted it, then bingo! He hit that sub right at the base of the conning tower. The sub was diving by this time and when it went out of sight Stephenson stood and calmly watched it go. But not Laviolette. For several seconds after the sub had disappeared, he fired at the water where it had been, and was that anxious to get it."

Lieut. Carruthers mentioned Osborne, the gunnery officer, for his fine direction of the ship's armament.

Canada Has Key Spot in Airways

WINNIPEG, June 8 (CP).—Canada holds the key position in respect to any scheme for British Commonwealth air service encircling the globe, said W. F. English, assistant vice-president of Trans-Canada Airways, here today.

Canada is at the "crossroads of the airways," Mr. English declared, and the most direct routes from the population centres of the United States to Europe and Asia cross it.

"Although they are avenues of destruction at the present time," Mr. English said, "airways of the future may be a powerful agency to break down the barriers of extreme and selfish nationalism and bring about peace and good understanding."

About two-thirds of the 250,000 reindeer in Alaska are owned by 4,800 natives.

Curtailment of Civilian Rail Travel Coming

MONTREAL, June 8 (CP).—Transport Controller T. C. Lockwood, of Montreal, today announced curtailment of train services to Summer resorts and issued a warning that "more drastic steps" may have to be taken to prevent non-essential travel. He gave no details of train service curtailment.

Mr. Lockwood said: "I am seriously concerned at the increase in civilian travel on the railways in Canada, although every effort has been made to curtail the movement, particularly during the week-end, it is now becoming a problem to provide suitable accommodation for the armed services."

Non-essential conventions and gatherings are still being held seriously interfering with the movement of the armed services, he said.

"I must therefore warn that unless the public refrains from using the passenger trains except when absolutely necessary, the situation may well develop where more drastic steps will have to be taken to prevent non-essential traveling," he concluded.

Bulldog Is New Captain in Navy

EDMONTON, June 8 (CP).—Edmonton Royal Canadian naval establishment, H.M.C.S. Nonsuch, has a new captain who is making himself at home.

He's Saville Kidd, thirteen-month-old English bulldog with a pedigree, who has been sworn into the navy as mascot with the rank of captain, the highest rank given in the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve. He was sworn in on a copy of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island."

Captain Kidd didn't exactly volunteer his services. He was given to Lieut. J. A. Dawson, commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Nonsuch, by Mrs. C. J. Kidd, of Edmonton, and became the first dog in the history of Edmonton's naval establishment to be sworn in with a commissioned rank.

The navy plans to train him to lead parades and act as mascot at sport functions. They hope he won't go the way of a predecessor, another bulldog named Danny who, apparently, didn't take kindly to navy life and skipped off on extended shore leave.

But Danny didn't have a captain's commission.

Vacation Pay Granted for Shop Workers

OTTAWA, June 8 (CP).—The National War Labor Board tonight issued an order establishing vacations with pay for employees of Division No. 4 Railway Employees' Department (A.F.L.) on the same terms and conditions as those now enjoyed by Division No. 4 on the Canadian National Railways.

Division No. 4 is an organization of railway shop trades which holds agreements governing working conditions with practically all Canadian railways. Shop employees of the C.N.R. system hold a like agreement with the C.N.R. management.

The board disallowed applications by Division No. 4, Railway Employees' Department, for orders that employees be paid for time lost through illness brought about by the conditions under which they work and that "time and one-half" be paid for all work performed on Sunday to those employees who, while working on Sunday, have an "assigned day off" later in the week.

In its reasons for judgment, the board said the applicants had requested that railways comprised in the Railway Association of Canada should adopt, and introduce as a provision of the existing agreement as to employees represented by Division No. 4, the "holiday with pay" plan now in operation on the Canadian National Railways and the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway.

60 PER CENT HAD HOLIDAYS

The board said that no such "holidays with pay" plan had ever been introduced by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the net result was that some 60 per cent of the employee group represented by Division No. 4 enjoyed holidays with pay although the remainder, in the main employees of the C.P.R., did not.

The judgment said the board's ruling on this question was considered justifiable in circumstances where some 60 per cent of the workers concerned already enjoyed the privilege.

"We do not deem it necessary," the judgment said, "to enter into any extended discussion of the two remaining claims of the applicants, namely, that the employees be paid for time lost through illness and that employees who work on Sunday in lieu of an assigned day off later in the week should be paid time and a half for Sundays.

"The applicants have failed to offer any satisfactory evidence of reasonably comparable conditions. It is our view that no case has been made out which would justify us in establishing completely new conditions of work without a solid foundation in evidence."

UNAPPRECIATED

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8 (AP).—Lieut. Robert Simon and Seaman Frank Woodford heard a monkey had been taken from its owner, who was jailed for beating it. They asked for—and obtained—the monkey as a ship's mascot. It promptly bit Woodford's finger so severely medical treatment was necessary.

Wage Boosts for Winnipeg Electric Company Workers

WINNIPEG, June 8 (CP).—Agreements providing wage increases and a cost-of-living bonus for 1,600 workers of the Winnipeg Electric Company have been signed, it was announced today by W. H. Carter, president.

The agreement, covering various wage rates, average five cents an hour higher than the 1929 level. The men will receive $7.80 a week cost-of-living bonus.

The new wage schedules were approved by the Regional War Labor Board.

Indians Picking American Berries

Beneficiaries of the Jay Treaty of 1850, plus a further enactment in 1928, which enable them to cross the international boundary virtually at will, nearly one hundred British Columbia Indians are said to be laboring in the berry fields on Vashon Island, across Puget Sound from Seattle, where they reportedly are earning from fifty to sixty cents an hour, which is claimed to be two or three times their pay for the same work in this province.

Under the treaty provisions which they enjoy, North American Indians born in the United States or Canada are free to cross the border without the inspection required of other citizens. Obliged only to prove their tribal status, they are not compelled to produce passport or visa.

Hon. K. C. Macdonald, Minister of Agriculture, said here yesterday that he has appealed to both Ottawa and Washington, hoping that something might be done to keep British Columbia Indians at home for the duration, but that he had been unable to obtain any practical assistance in either of these directions.

Dr. MacDonald offers no criticism of the Indians for making the most of their opportunity, but feels that something should be done to give this province the benefit of their labor in the wartime berry crisis.

While most of the British Columbia Indians are said to be from around Ashcroft and Lytton, at least a few Vancouver Island Indians have been reported by their women as leaving, or intending to leave, for the Mainland to pick berries, and the Lower Mainland berry fields being adjacent to the border, it is a simple matter for any Indian to cross over and continue south.

WOULD BUILD UP FUND

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP).—Legislation to build up a bonus fund for men and women in the armed services and for seamen in the merchant marine was introduced in the House of Representatives today by Representative Joseph Baldwin (Republican, New York). The bonus would be payable after the war on the basis of at least $100 for each year of service. Baldwin estimated the total cost to the Government at approximately $3,000,000,000.

COLONIES IN WAR

LONDON (CP).—The colonies have contributed more than £23,000,000 ($123,000,000) towards the cost of the war, Oliver Stanley, Colonial Secretary, said. In addition £8,000,000 ($36,000,000) have been loaned to the British Government free of interest.

"ON A GREAT SCALE"

The keynote of Mr. Winston Churchill's review of the war in the British House of Commons yesterday was his promise of amphibious operations on a great scale by the United Nations. He intimated the war was on the eve of these, of a vast offensive. As well, he promised more intensive bombing of German cities. The enemy, he said, is staking all on his submarine campaign. In this connection he pointed out that last month was the best in the history of anti-submarine operations since Pearl Harbor, and that more undersea boats had been destroyed in that period than Germany could build in the same time.

Mr. Churchill said that the United Nations are taking the weight off Russia; are helping China more; are giving stronger security to Australia and New Zealand. Taking it all in all the Prime Minister's latest pronouncement, comprehensive as usual, was the most optimistic of his career. There is hard fighting ahead. Mr. Churchill never minimizes the nature of the task, and once more he emphasizes the difficulties that lie in the way. The point of what he had to say upon which public attention will centre is the announcement that the United Nations are on the eve of a general offensive. That it will be on "a great scale" indicates confirmation of what everyone has been expecting, and there were evidences in what the Prime Minister said that the blow will fall at any moment.

It was fitting that Mr. Churchill should receive such a welcome from the House of Commons on his return from Washington and North Africa. It was the tribute to the man and his accomplishments and to the fire and enthusiasm, to the faith and determined purpose that he has brought to bear on the conduct of the war. No man in living memory has acquired such world-wide popularity. He is the embodiment of a fighting Empire which held the fort alone for a year against the forces of aggression, and he foretold just what is now about to happen when the outlook was at its darkest. There are excellent reasons to hope that events of the coming months will justify the optimism of one who has earned the title of the greatest Prime Minister in the Empire's long roll of such statesmen.

ATTACK COMES FIRST

The spectacle of Canada "defending" herself 7,000 miles from the scene of major action in this war has begun to irk a good many people in this, the year of Allied attack. It is both right and reasonable to take such precautions as any nation in a state of belligerency should take where counter-measures by the enemy are physically possible, however, problematical strategically. Beyond that, however, the emphasis surely must be upon our attack, and the greatest possible amount of damage we can do the enemy.

For three and a half years the Canadian Army has been training in England for a contact grip with the enemy. It may often have had to defend itself against air attack, but it never made a song out of that. For the same length of time, Canadian lads have manned ships in the great Atlantic convoys, both escorts and merchant vessels, sinking ships and being themselves torpedoed, recuperating and going baeck to sea again. For three and a half years Canadian flyers have been at gun grips with the enemy over Britain, Germany, Italy and elsewhere.

This country is very proud of those young men. Their talk, their thought, their attitude and their actions have been predicated ever on attack, not on defence. They have risen, individually, to the supreme summit of human courage and devotion. They have been awarded some of the highest honors in the gift of the Empire. Back at home, we must back them up with something more tangible than the "defence" of Canada"; with a sober, realistic, fighting mood. Only so will we be worthy of their courage and their deeds. Let us stop "defending the Gulf of St. Lawrence" on paper.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

In a recent number of The Spectator, London, there is a brief sketch of the history of a controversy between Socialism and Free Enterprise which began a century ago and which, in the opinion of the writer of the article, has now become practically obsolete, the logic of events having put an end to it.

For many years the doctrines of free trade with the rest of the world and "laissez faire" in the free play of internal competition held sway. At the turn of the century, however, the question was asked whether these doctrines were any longer tenable in view of the great growth of production in other countries. Social legislation had already begun to limit the freedom of contract between master and man, landlord and tenant, vendor and purchaser. It sought to safeguard the standard of living of individual workers, to ensure a higher standard of education, and, along with this, it aimed at securing for the worker a fair measure of the amenities, the leisure, and the responsibilities which an educated person is entitled to enjoy.

The case for public control of investment is a fairly strong one. The investment of money abroad without regard to the national interest is neither economically profitable nor strategically sound. Some investments of British money abroad have turned out to be a gift to Britain's enemies. It seems clear also that in limited liability concerns on a large scale the directors exercise great power. In some cases they control resources greater than the revenues of some of the smaller countries of Europe. They make decisions which influence social and even political policy. It seems necessary that for political, as well as economic reasons, their powers should be controlled to some extent by the state.

All of the above can be freely conceded. Nevertheless, there are several factors in the situation that are favorable, and indeed decisively favorable, to private enterprise. The work of the world is not all done by big concerns. In production the "small man" is still a large factor, and he is the largest factor in the distributive system. Moreover, he is likely to remain the chief factor wherever personal service is more important than mechanical devices in distribution, and wherever personal inventiveness predominates over purely mechanical devices in production.

The [illegible] terprise. To quote directly from The Spectator article: "The costing system adopted by private enterprise, the need for publishing accounts showing the true position of the business, and the need for justifying any demand for new money lead to a very different degree of efficiency from that prevalent in state concerns." Add to this that in the whole field of new industries public control is at a discount. "Private enterprise," we are told, "has made more notable contributions to the war than the whole inventive genius of the army and the ordnance factories."

In short, to quote again: "Private enterprise is a variable human force which can be controlled without necessarily being stifled. It depends upon the existence of opportunity and not on the absence of regulation, and it flourishes as much in the cultivated soil of artificially regulated conditions as in the primitive frontier civilization of "laissez faire."

"SECRET" REPORTS

That was a very strange decision in Parliament to keep secret a report on the Federal civil service prepared by a committee for Parliament, which is to say for the people. If there had been little interest in the matter before there will be now, and throughout the land. What is so secret about a committee's findings on the civil service, prepared at the expense of the people and presumably in the people's interest?

Without any report at all, the people know that the Federal civil service, at least in its temporary offices, has grown threefold. The country has watched multiple offices spring up for a variety of special purposes. There has been visible congestion at Ottawa, and at most Federal institutions; with a renting of temporary accommodation, the construction of new buildings, and so forth. Why should not the people know to what extent this process of growth has developed, and what return they receive for it all?

What must be accentuated is that Parliament acts for the people, and can have no higher warrant. The peoples' business ever comes first, and the civil service is distinctly an item of the peoples' business. They pay the shot. They dance to the orders and regulations. They are taxed to provide the supply that keeps these multitudinous offices open. Are they to be told now, by Parliament or by any other agency, that it is none of their business but a "secret"? Let us have no such secrets. Put the facts on the table, and let the people judge. We should know also the composition of the "majority" who ruled otherwise the other day at Ottawa.

RELIGIOUS PERCENTAGES

What is gained by the information must remain a mystery, but a sessional paper has been brought down in Parliament showing the religious affiliations of those of the Canadian Army (Active) as compiled up to the end of 1942. Figures in this respect relating to draftees have not yet been assembled. There is only a percentage return; no figures affecting actual enlistments being given. It is said that the returns are according to attestation papers down to the end of 1942, but the actual table describes the percentages as of March 31, 1943. Here it is:

	As of 31st March, 1943. Per cent.
Roman Catholic	29.76
Church of England	25.55
United Church	20.96
Presbyterian	10.84
Baptist	5.53
Lutheran	2.27
Jewish	1.07
Methodist	1.05
Salvation Army	0.43
Congregational	0.02
Oother denominations	2.36
No religion or religion not stated	0.16

Mr. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, has told Parliament that in the much debated raid on Dieppe, thirty-seven German prisoners were taken. They consisted of twenty-five naval ratings, eight soldiers and four airmen. As an offset to the losses suffered it was a very poor day's bag.

Viscount Samuel says: "The party truce is indispensable if the nation is to act as one unit in the conduct of the war." This conception is anathema to the C.C.F. Party in this country. There is no need to seek far for the reason why.

The names of Canada's air heroes of both the past and present wars could be perpetuated fittingly in the naming of permanent flying fields across the Dominion.

The Victory garden thrives when the Victory gardener becomes determined and hardy as the weeds.

ONE DAY

Today I have been happy. All the day
I held the memory of you, and wove
Its laughter with the dancing light o' the spray,
And sowed the sky with tiny clouds of love,
And sent you following the white waves of sea,
And crowned your head with fancies, nothing worth,
Stray buds from that old dust of misery,
Being glad with a new foolish quiet mirth.

So lightly I played with those dark memories,
Just as a child, beneath the Summer skies,
Plays hour by hour with a strange shining stone,
For which (he knows not) towns were fired of old,
And love has been betrayed, and murder done,
And great kings turned to a little bitter mould.

—Rupert Brooke.

WAR WEDDING

Too young, you say? Does love take count,
Methodical, of years?
They are as youthful, true, as Spring—
But old as parting tears.

And who shall call this boy too young
For marriage—who deny
Love's beauty, then, to one who is Quite old enough to die?

—Virginia Scott Miner

THE ISLES OF REST

The latest link in Canada's national airway, that between Victoria and Vancouver, is among the loveliest of all. From the air it is a two-toned picture in emerald and silver, against a backdrop of snow-crested mountains and flashing waterways. It is such a scene as Titania herself might have chosen, after rejecting a world. In the centre, and for twenty miles of the way, are the Gulf Islands, an emerald brooch on the silvery cloak of the Strait of Georgia. They are the Isles of Rest, where star-strewn nights follow magical sunsets on an inland sea of tranquility, silence and charm. High over all by day is the vivid blue vault of the heavens, and its sculptured, ever-changing clouds.

Three great wind funnels conspire to keep the southern end of Vancouver unusually fogless and clear. One is the Strait of Juan de Fuca, with its exit seventy miles away on the broad Pacific Ocean. Another is Puget Sound, with its deep gash in the coastline, south of the international border. The third is the Strait of Georgia itself, where Pacific tides and winds speak with reflected, calmer voices. Around the rim of this inner bowl the cloud banks rise and billow, form and break up, shift and change endlessly. The Juan de Fuca cloudbanks veil and unveil the grand Olympic Mountains a half a dozen times a day, each time with new and cunning witchery. The Georgia clouds shut out Mount Baker, draw it close or send it marching miles away. From Puget Sound there comes the whitehorse cavalry of a brisk south-eastern breeze, a mirroring calm, a darkening squall, or half a hundred other tricks with light and shade. It all makes magic in the air.

Planes leaving the western terminus at Patricia Bay airport rise against the beautiful peninsula of North and South Saanich. It is a colorful, carpeted expanse of field and pasture land; shot through with fields of daffodils, tulips and other bright flowers in season; fringed with its firs and curving, white beaches. To the south are the stately peaks of the Olympics, sometimes sitting on cloudbanks without any bases at all. Turning north, the planes fly above the Isles of Rest; those emerald drops in a quick-silver sea—with their inner and outer guards, with the tide-churned "S" bend at Active Pass, with their conifers standing on the very brink of the water, and quiet, mirroring pools inland. Almost they seem uninhabited, in their pristine beauty still.

Beyond the Isles of Rest is open water for some forty miles. Behind, now, are left the green-treed islands in their silvered setting. Ahead, and rising fast out of the ground mist, is the great delta of the Fraser River, blowing silt-flowers at its mouth. The margin of the Mainland appears low and split by many colors. Mount Baker towers like a sleeping giant on the right, smoothly chiseled, serene and calm. Sedge lands give way to market gardens. Tree-clad hills rise steeply in the hinterland. There is Vancouver at the foot of its sleeping lions; its parks like emeralds, its waterways like silver ribands. Ah, but Vancouver should be seen from the air by night. Then it looks like a star that has fallen from the sky and burst asunder, scattering its myriad, scintillating lights like jewels on the bosom of the sleeping hills. But by night or by day it is all a picture, one that the world will surely come to know. This land, I think, has not elsewhere its like.

SALVAGE WORKERS WANTED

Sir,—With so many joining the forces, going to work on farms and in the shipyards, there is a very real danger of our hitherto successful salvage undertaking becoming less and less able to deal with incoming supplies. Before materials can be sold, they have to be sorted, and though it is light and pleasant work, there is a great deal of it to do.

Workers are cordially welcome to our canteen, where tea is provided and sandwiches can be brought by workers. The No. 2 car brings you to the Cloverdale depot.

SUGAR FOR CANNING

Sir,—In Sunday's issue of The Colonist you published two letters regarding canning sugar. Both your correspondents draw the attention of your readers to the fact that hundreds of tons of sugar are being wasted on making wine. But what about the fruit that is also thus wasted. All this fruit could be canned, and put to the use of the public and the armed forces.

The public in the past has been indifferent buyers of canned logans but how they would jump at them now. The wineries would have been closed long ago if they were not financed by big business. Like everything else done by the present Government, big business must be considered.

Take the matter of manpower—the Selective Service is taking men away from building naval escorts here and sending them to the mines because they happened to have worked there before. I work in a shipyard here and I know this to be a fact. In the meanwhile the Government allows salesmen and office workers in all kinds of non-essential occupations to remain at their present work. A salesman, particularly, cannot be essential because if a consumer needs an article he can personally contact the producer and thus satisfy his wants, yet the country is still full of salesmen in different businesses running around in cars with extra gas stickers on their windshields. The Government only closes down on the little fellow. He controls no large voting power. Another thing, if the present Government is going to continue to govern this country "by order in council" why not send the members of Parliament to work in the coal mines. They are doing no good where they are, except the ones who are down there to line up nice fat contracts for their businesses, which they carry on under a company name. Let's have one law for all alike; the workers better soon do something to protect these "freedoms" we hear so much about.

MARKETING BOARD AND POTATOES

Sir,—I note in today's Colonist yet another apology from Mr. Earl A. Mackay for his well-paid existence of the Vegetable Marketing Board, in which he states he does not intend to be drawn into any newspaper controversy, and quite rightly. So I invite Mr. Mackay to address a mass meeting of housewives and farmers at any time and place he desires, and hear what they have to say re the poor potato. I would also invite our Minister of Agriculture, as the Vegetable Marketing Board is the sole and only child he has produced during his over-long tenure of office. As the last two meetings held to consider this vital question ended with police intervention, I would advise the board's potato Gestapo police squad turning out in full force.

Friends in Victoria have been without even a seed potato at twenty-five cents for three pounds for weeks, and my farm has been besieged by Army jeeps and service trucks in search of the elusive spud. Now, why is all this? Had Herr Goebbels drawn up the rules and regulations of the Marketing Board he could not have been more successful in killing the production of vegetables. Most of us farmers look upon it as a fifth columnist racket.

Yet, on March 9 Dr. MacDonald made this statement in the House: "I think that, despite anything that is said to the contrary, those that are willing to go into the records of the last ten years will find they reflect a steadily increasing production and that agriculture is on a more substantial basis."

Now the doctor probably went home to find there was not a potato, except one imported from Prince Edward Island, a shortage of milk and his daily paper full of advertisements of auction sales of dairy herds and farm equipment.

When Churchill and Roosevelt met to select a military leader for the coming offensive I am sure they would not have chosen a chiropodist, however skilled and painless he might be, so why cannot our perfectly good and efficient Coalition Government give us farmers in this time of dire need, a practical agriculturist who knows his job from a practical rather than a theoretical viewpoint.

A. D. MACDONALD.
"Duntulm," Sidney, B.C., June 5, 1943.

STRICKEN CHINA

Sir,—Last night as hundreds gathered to listen to the message of Dr. Duncan McRoberts, recently returned from China, our hearts were filled with a sickening horror.

It was evident that language was inadequate to describe what he had passed through. It was almost more than human strength could endure and he said there were times when his brain was almost reeling, times when he pleaded with God to take him home as he felt he could endure no more. He lived through those scenes again as he recounted them—never a day nor an hour goes by but he sees those suffering millions of poor bleeding Chinese—many nights he doesn't get more than an hour's sleep.

He told of lying in the field and seeing hundreds of Chinese soldiers huddled together on the road (they all congregate when there is an air raid and afford a splendid target) blown in every direction. Afterwards he has waded through blood several inches deep pulling out wounded bodies.

He told about fleeing before the Japanese army along the "Road of Death" where all along the way the road was strewn with dead, dying and wounded.

He saw Chungking blazing like a great inferno—everyone was fleeing to the Yangtze River which was all lit up by the flames. Although the current was raging men in boats were working valiantly to take the fleeing multitudes to a place of safety. From a high wall, on a promontory in the very heart of Chungking he saw three hundred men and women trapped between the wall and the fire. He heard their screams above the fury of the flames, he saw their looks of agony, their arms upraised in pleading. They rushed back and forth; they clawed at the wall. In vain he tried to turn away but the horror of it all held him rooted to the spot. He watched until the last one perished in the flames.

That night he saw not only three hundred souls perishing, but he seemed to see all China, poor suffering China, not only China but this whole world, this sorrow-stricken, bleeding world, its perishing millions with arms upraised in pleading, pleading with God's people to help. May God awaken us from our shameful indifference and lethargy and help us to pray as we have never prayed before.

Dr. McRoberts speaks Tuesday night at the Gospel Tabernacle on Yates Street, and Wednesday night at the Victoria High School to A.R.P. wardens.

SPEAKING OF RUG CUTTING!

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

(From The Daily Colonist of June 9, 1918)

Make No Gain in Past Week—In the battlefield of the Marne where a week ago the Germans were hurling their masses of troops against the western side of the wedge they had driven into the Allied lines in the battle that began on March 28, the Teutons are now standing virtually on the defensive in the Chateau Thierry sector. American and French troops are making progress in this important region. The British are engaged on the other side of the wedge between the Marne and Rheims. There have been no engagements of a notable character on the Italian front, but in Macedonia the Allies, particularly the Greeks, have been continuing the aggressive operations.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

(From The Daily Colonist of June 9, 1893)

Mistake Made—The incoming Empress of Japan was reported by mistake, yesterday afternoon, as sighted off Carmanah Point. Soon after 7 o'clock, the Islander, which had been secured as tender, left the Inner Harbor with the C.P.R. officials, customs officers, hotel men and others interested. Arrived at the Outer Wharf she made fast there, but it was half an hour later, when the mistake was discovered. The Empress had not been sighted when The Colonist went to press.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

(From The Daily British Colonist of June 9, 1868)

On Shore—A number of men of the respective crews of H.M.S. Zealous and the U.S. Sloop-of-War Jamestown in port have been on leave on shore for a couple of days past. We are glad to say that notwithstanding a tendency on several occasions of both parties coming to a collision while running together, so far nothing has occurred worth mentioning to mar the friendship existing between the men of both vessels. It is singular that a goodly proportion of the U.S. vessel's men are Englishmen also.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

From an article by John Gunther in Look: "War-ridden peoples of the Balkans are preparing for what is to come. The Balkan peoples are split. There are quarrels among the countries and quarrels within each country. The patriotism of these peoples is deep-seated, violent and intense. Their frontiers are written in the blood of their forefathers and sons. The vast majority are peasant stock, tenacious of their traditions, hugging close to the soil, and very poor. The Balkans have long been a checkerboard for the game of power politics, for the ambitions and jealousies of the great powers. Germany and Italy dominate the Balkans, but Axis domination is bitterly unpopular." . . .

From Life: "One of the disillusionments fighting men in the Pacific have met in this war is that few South Sea Islands live up to the langorous standards of Hollywood. They have discovered that the care-free natives of their imagination are usually sickly or diseased. The lush jungles swarm with myriad flying or crawling discomforts. The lazy tropical nights are made miserable by mosquitoes. Many of the islands that might have been lovely have been marred by civilization's war." . . . Time spent by members of the Windsor, Ont., police department in court is listed, and constables receive twenty-four hours leave for every eight hours' court duty. The men are allowed to work at other jobs during their time off, and recently received an increase in the amount allowed for clothing. . . . A Japanese newspaper publisher says in "Behind the Rising Sun," an R.K.O. motion picture: "We are still in a feudal society, so many robber barons, if you will. We may use tools of the Twentieth Century, but, believe me, our minds are from another day. On the bottom of the heap are the people, the patient millions who toil in the factories or the fields and are too content to live on nothing. On the top of the heap are the great families who own the fields and factories, who own the army and navy, yes, who own even the Emperor himself."

By careful tending of soil Chinese farmers make a square mile support 3,800 people.

According to Culbertson - - -

A declarer does not always discharge his full duties by placing his own cards to the best advantage. At times he can clearly see that he will be "ruined" if the opponents hit upon such and such a defence, and then it is up to him to make a different defence more appealing. For example:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 3 2
♥ K 10 9 8
♦ 10 9 7 6
♣ A J 5

WEST
♠ J 10 7
♥ Q 6 3 2
♦ 3 2
♣ 10 8 7 4

EAST
♠ K Q 8 5 4
♥ 7
♦ A J
♣ K Q 9 3 2

SOUTH
♠ A 9 6
♥ A J 5 4
♦ K Q 8 5 4
♣ 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♥	3 ♣
3 ♦	Pass	4 ♥	4 ♠
Double	5 ♣	Pass	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding was not characterised by any great timidity on the part of either East or South, yet every one of their bids was fairly logical. South started with the short heart suit so that he could bid diamonds if North responded with no trump or clubs. East later explained that he had chosen clubs for his first overcall so that he could show the spade suit at a high level and thus announce a strong hand. This reasoning was not too sound but it had no great effect on the outcome. North might well have doubled four spades instead of passing for his partner's decision.

West opened the spade jack. Declarer won, laid down the heart ace, then successfully finessed against the queen. A diamond was returned; East played the jack and declarer won with the king. At this point, of course, declarer could have returned a diamond from his own hand, since the only high card missing was the ace, but he foresaw difficulties if he made that play. East, on winning with the diamond ace, might be reluctant to lead a club in the face of dummy's holding in that suit; he might prefer to return two rounds of spades. This would be fatal to declarer's cause; he would have to ruff the second round in dummy and then would be unable to return to his own hand to draw West's heart queen.

Declarer decided that his best chance was to induce an error on East's part. To that end, he led to the club ace, carefully getting that card out of the way so that it would not inhibit East's lead of the suit. Now, another diamond was led toward the closed hand. East went up, and (to his shame) did exactly what declarer wanted him to do, i. e., he laid down the club king. Declarer ruffed with the heart jack, took another finesse against the queen, laid down the heart king, discarding a spade from his own hand, then ran the diamond suit, and finally conceded one spade to the enemy. In all, he had lost only a spade and a diamond, and therefore had fulfilled his ambitious contract.

Attempt at Landing on Coast Foiled

Attack Repulsed At Powell River

POWELL RIVER, June 8 (CP)—Commandos attempted a week-end landing on the British Columbia mainland, but were driven off with heavy casualties by a company of the British Columbia Regiment (D.C.O.R.).

Gunfire and the burst of bombs shattered the Sabbath calm of this peaceful industrial town and before dawn the battle raged along the rocky waterfront. By 7:12 a.m. the remnants of the "12th Battalion Japanese Imperial Guards," who had launched a three-pronged attack on the town under the cover of night, were marched through the town.

The "prisoners" were greeted with handshakes and cigarettes by their captors—as successful actors but unsuccessful invaders in a rehearsal for real warfare.

The four-hour operation—the first of its kind to be carried out along the Pacific Coast—was a large-scale combined commando and infantry exercise carried out by a Pacific Command combined operations school.

It had all the trappings of the real thing. The invasion barges assembled before 3 a.m. off nearby Texada Island. At the zero hour they launched their three-pronged attack on the town, pouring ashore waves of infantry commandos, Bren gun carriers, Bofors ack-acks and armored equipment.

There was one casualty—a sergeant-major broke his ankle in his rush to get off a landing barge and up the rocky shore.

Would Keep Navy

there the Royal Canadian Naval College which was likely to play a large part in Canada's future greatness.

Canada, said Mr. McGeer, should decide to maintain not only a navy but a merchant marine made by and manned by Canadians, with most modern ships and facilities.

Everything that had been achieved in the naval programme since the present war started, was provided for in the naval bill of 1910, said Mr. McGeer, and like that proposed programme the present programme was fostered by a Liberal Government.

But in the interim Canada's navy was allowed to die "because we could not make any money from it."

NEVER AGAIN WITHOUT NAVY

The proposal he was making, said Mr. McGeer, was that Canada never again would be without a navy and a merchant marine, without which the Dominion could never hope to take her place in world trade.

Rev. Dan McIvor (Lib., Fort William) said there should be "fair play and a job" for every man after the war.

He hoped the corvette Fort William would achieve the same success as the Port Arthur, credited with the sinking of a submarine recently.

Navy Minister Macdonald said T. L. Church (Prog. Con., Toronto Broadview) had spoken in 1926, of the Canadian navy being locked up in a garage, and later had called it "a contemptible little navy."

G. E. Johnston (N.D., Bow River) said he was "getting sick of this kind of thing," with extracts being read from old Hansards.

ago that the United States has "plentiful stocks" of war gases and "if the enemy starts using war gases we have plenty to give back."

On April 22, the British Government said it had reports that "Hitler is making preparations for using poison gas against the Russian front." It added that such a development would find Britain retaliating with the same weapon upon "German munitions centres, seaports and other military objectives."

Curtail Use Of Coal Tar

OTTAWA, June 8 (CP)—To provide sufficient coal tar for vital war industries, its use for fuel, or for the construction, maintenance or repair of public or private roads, highways or airport runways, has been prohibited, the Munitions Department announced today.

The new order, issued by Chemicals Controller E. T. Sterne, also provides that, except by permit, no person shall dispose of any coal tar, or use coal tar in greater quantities than forty gallons a month. The order does not apply to coal tar produced in British Columbia.

Mr. Sterne said coal tar is in critical supply. It is used for making the pitch necessary in refining steel alloys and aluminum. It is also essential for making the pitch-coke needed in the manufacture of abrasives.

Former Resident Dies in Interior

Word was received here yesterday of the death of Mrs. Marie Madeleine Wilson in Princeton General Hospital on June 5, following a brief illness.

She was the widow of the late William C. H. Wilson, well-known mine official formerly connected with the B.C. Copper Company at Greenwood, B.C.; British-American Nickel Corporation, of Sudbury, Ont., and other famous mining firms. He was with the British Columbia Government for years as special consultant and mining auditor.

Born in Unieux, Southern France, Mrs. Wilson was married in Greenwood. Following the death of her husband on May 8, 1940, she left her home at 408 Dallas Road after several years' residence, and lived once more at Greenwood.

Surviving are one son, Thomas G. Wilson, Allenby, B.C., and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Bravard, and brother, Alexander Bravard, both of Greenwood.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated on Friday at Greenwood, and interment will take place in the church cemetery.

Annual Inspection Of School Cadets

The Qualicum Beach Boys' School Cadets had their annual inspection day on Friday, when Major W. R. Critchley, D.S.O., district cadet officer for the Pacific Coast, made his regular tour of inspection.

The inspecting officer was assisted by Sergt.-Major Bailey. The cadets, under Cadet Sergt. R. Butler, went through arms drill, open order drill and P.T. drill, closing with a march past, Major Critchley taking the salute. The signaling and first aid sections were also inspected in their branches of service.

At the close of the inspection, Major Critchley taught the boys an army game and ended by a talk of great interest which was thoroughly enjoyed. This was the day that an R.C.A.F. plane crashed not far from the school at Qualicum Beach. Some of the cadets were posted as guards over the wreckage until relieved by R.C.A.F. personnel.

The cadets made a good showing and a marked improvement on previous years. This Cadet Corps is composed of boys of the public school as well as the Qualicum Boys' School. The inspecting officer said he was well pleased with the results of the day and complimented the boys on their parade.

Ivan Knight, principal of the school, also expressed pleasure at the display the boys gave.

Car Borrowed

A. G. Clapworthy, Ambassador Avenue, reported last night the theft of his car, a 1930 Ford coupe, from the 1300 block, Broad Street. Two prowl cars and all outside police units were quickly notified. Fifteen minutes later the police were advised that the car had not been stolen but only borrowed by another member of the family.

Potatoes Uprooted

Albert W. Delamont, 1327 Denman Street, last night complained to the police of damage to a garden on Cook Street between Caledonia and North Park Streets. Three rows of potatoes were pulled up, Mr. Delamont said.

Employees Form Association for Group Security

Saanich Body to Join B.C. Council

Saanich municipal employees, representing every department of the municipality, agreed unanimously last night to affiliate themselves with the British Columbia Joint Council of Public Employees, and toward that, formed the Saanich Municipal Employees' Association at a meeting in Lake Hill Community Hall.

Speaking of their objectives, D. R. McAdams, chairman at the meeting who was elected president of the association, said that through group bargaining the association will strive for postwar security through superannuation and health insurance, cessation of patronage and increased social activities.

"We do not intend to ask for salary increases right away, since that is a matter that comes up every year, and is secondary to us," he said. "Rather, we intend to bring about the greatest good to ourselves and to all residents of Saanich."

A salary schedule similar to that for Saanich teachers is desired, he said.

Reeve E. C. Warren, who wished the association every success, and who complimented the group on its effort toward changing superannuation through the joint council, said the members must go further and try to obtain superannuation for every taxpayer. He expressed full agreement with the employees in forming their association, and voiced the hope that it will be modeled after the "great unions without which working men would not have progressed."

GROUP BARGAINING ONLY HOPE

Martin Neilson, chairman of the Saanich School Board, said group bargaining was "the only hope," and that the sooner they were organized, the better they could help themselves.

He also said that educational costs should be born by the province. This would tend toward "more money in municipal coffers," he said.

Edward Callan, president of the Victoria Civic Federation, described the work of his organization and extended an invitation to the newly-formed Saanich group to join.

Mr. McAdams, president, is secretary of the Saanich School Board. The ninety employees present elected Cpl. Cecil F. G. Pearce, of the Saanich police, as vice-president, and Miss Hazel Dovey, of the tax department, as secretary-treasurer. It is intended that an executive meeting be held, to be attended by two members of every municipal department. Rule will be by majority vote in all cases.

Logger Killed At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI, B.C., June 8 (CP).—Ralph Greenard, forty-seven, logging truck operator, was killed instantly yesterday when he fell beneath the wheels of a log-laden trailer he was hauling to Port Alberni.

Apparently his truck went out of control after its axle broke while descending a steep grade. Greenard jumped, but failed to get clear.

Oak Bay Collision

H. G. Southin, 2683 Cadboro Bay Road, was stunned and bruised when his motorcycle collided at Hampshire Road and Bowker Place with a motor car driven by C. G. Bell, 1857 Bowker Place. The accident occurred about 5:30 o'clock last night. Southin was removed to the Royal Jubilee Hospital for observation, the Oak Bay police reported.

Loses Three Tires

H. Vogel, general delivery, city, reported last night that about a month ago he parked his 1928 sedan on the Durrance Road in the Highland district, and that upon returning to it he found three tires missing, also a large battery and two parking lights.

Stolen Cab Wrecked

Joe Dennison, Quarter Cab Co. Ltd., 708 Johnson Street, notified city police that a taxi had been stolen from the premises about 4:30 yesterday morning. The cab was found later in the day on Craigflower Road "smashed up," the police report said. Provincial Police are conducting a further inquiry.

One Way to Get Coal

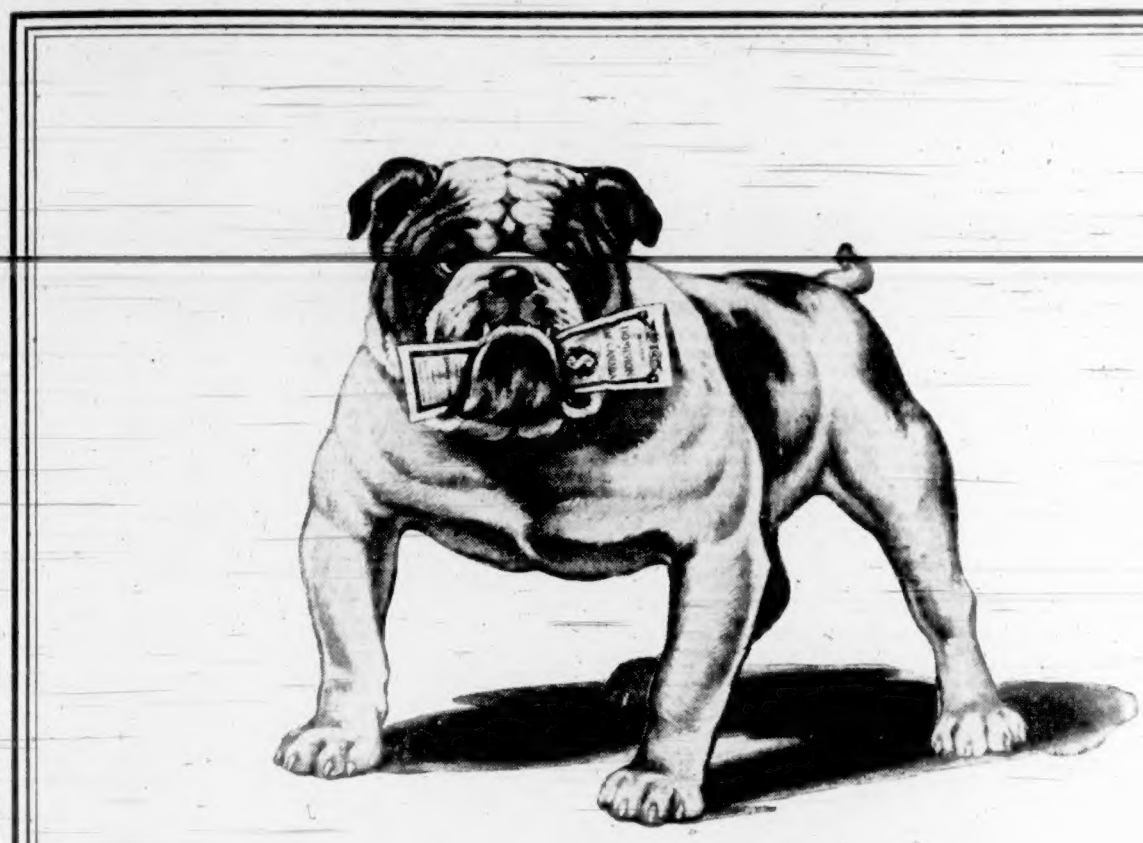

VANCOUVER, June 8 (CP)—"Mr. Dale" made sure of his fuel for next Winter when he applied for a truck drivers' job at the Arrow Kirk Coal Company, and was given a four-ton load of coal to deliver. Driver and coal have never been seen since, but the empty truck turned up two hours later.

LOSING ANOTHER PITCHER

PITTSBURGH, June 8 (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates, whose recent pitching and batting upsurge shot them into third place with resultant sweet dreams of a National League pennant, were headed today for no small setback—the loss of two members of the vital hurling department to the army.

Frankie Frisch, manager of the Bucs, hardly had recovered from the shock of losing Johnny Lanning when it was learned that Jack Hallett, the promising rookie who shut out the Giants Sunday on four hits, had received orders to report for his physical examination June 17.

British miners who had worked for four years with courage and persistence were beginning to show signs of fatigue, Raymond Evershed, East Midlands fuel controller, said at Derby.

TENACITY

WHEN Britain faced annihilation ...when her citizens were dying by thousands under a rain of Nazi bombs ... when she stood alone against the might of the enemy's thrust ... then the British people showed the quality which lies at the root of their greatness. They hung on!

In those heroic months, Britain saved herself—and the world—by hanging on.

Far removed from immediate threat of attack, we Canadians in town and country have had a lighter task. We have merely been asked to put all the dollars we do not absolutely require for necessities into Victory Bonds.

As long as we hang on to the Bonds we buy, our dollars continue to fight for freedom.

We are linked by ties of blood and sentiment to the British people, whose example of tenacity has so stirred the world.

Let us emulate them. Let us hang on to our Victory Bonds! Let us keep our dollars fighting until Victory is won!

Left Hook Ends Bout In Second

Freddie Mills Stops Robinson

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LEEDS, England, June 8 (CP)—A vicious left hook, which many ringside experts agreed was the best punch seen for years in British boxing, sent soaring hopes that in snub-nosed Freddie Mills Britain has a future world champion.

Giving away thirty-five pounds, the British and Empire light-heavyweight king clouted 217-pound Al Robinson all over the ring at the Leeds United football ground and sent him to the floor in the second round with a crash that was heard by every one of the 8,000 present.

It wasn't mere victory that boosted Freddie's stock in this return bout with the Leeds giant—but the way he did it. He was a stalking killer from the opening bell, a killer four inches shorter than his giant opponent.

The knockout was considered astonishing because when the two met for the first time last October Big Al was having the best of things until forced to retire in the sixth round with a cut eye.

The decisive triumph also placed the Bournemouth bomber still further in front as the No. 1 man for the British and Empire heavyweight crowns left vacant by the retirement of Len Harvey several months ago.

Improving every time out under the expert eye of canny Ted Broadribb, twenty-four-year-old Mills drew blood with a crashing right in the first round that prepared Robinson for the end. A bout of sparring opened the second heat as Mills waited for an opening. He forced the giant into a corner, then let go to the chin. Robinson fell as if he had been pole-axed and did not recover for several minutes after his seconds dragged him to his corner.

Larry Gains, once of Toronto and former British Empire heavyweight, was among ringsiders who raved about the punch. The big negro, now in the Pioneer Corps, said it was one of the finest he ever had seen, "beautifully timed and straight to the point." Gains helped Robinson train.

Both Mills and Robinson are R.A.F. sergeants.

Players Aiding Sale of Bonds

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Dixie Walker, the people's choice in Brooklyn, brought the top price today as a $1,000,000,000 War Bond drive, with baseball as its central theme, got under way with an "auction" of players of the three New York major league clubs.

A total of $100,000,000 in bond purchases was pledged by various individuals and corporations who "bought" the stars and who will sponsor them for the remainder of the season. Ex-Mayor Jimmy Walker, the auctioneer, knocked down Walker for $11,250,000 to the Brooklyn Club, a social organization. Floyd (Arky) Vaughan brought a bid of $11,000,000. More than half the hundred million total came from Brooklyn groups.

The sponsors who acquired players in the auction also are pledged to make further War Bond purchases during the season, according to the performances of the players they bought. A home run, for example, requires a $100,000 purchase, a shutout by a pitcher, $50,000.

Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 8 (CP)—Southpaw Duck McNaughton pitched a no-hit, no-run ball game at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., last week. The Falcon pitcher struck out seventeen in the seven-inning game, although he issued seven walks to Chrome batters. It was believed to be the first no-hitter in the city's history . . . Percy Norman, nationally known Vancouver swimming coach, has chosen a dozen promising swimmers from the armed forces and is teaching them how to instruct their fellow servicemen to handle themselves in the water with or without full pack . . . Montreal Royals, of the International Baseball League, are angling for services of Alex Hooks, who succeeded Rabbit Maranville as Royals' manager in 1938. Hooks now is with New Orleans, but Royals hope to get him as a first baseman. Jack Graham would be returned to the outfield until he is called by his draft board.

QUIP OF THE WEEK CLUB

Alf (Vancouver sun) Cottrell comments on demise of New Westminster Salmonbellies lacrosse team because of players had enlisted: "That town is the most loyal spot in the world—for homebrew talent. The talent went to war, now all they have left is homebrew."

The Canadian Association of Oarsmen fixing dates for the 1943 Canadian Henley at St. Catharines, Ont., July 29-30-31, said Toronto Argos, Hamilton Leanders and Buffalo Westsides are expected to place full entries. That may be over-confidence. Andy (Toronto Star) Lytle quotes Joe Wright, Sr., the Argos old-timer, as wondering "what they will use for scullers and crews . . . there's nothing with us any more except high school boys and one or two old fellows who scull to keep in shape."

Matthew Watson, retired railway shopman, was worried because Moncton, N.B., lacked an adequate field for baseball and softball. So he offered part of his property on the city's outskirts. The offer hasn't been accepted yet. Watson explains his interest in ball started when he lived in Philadelphia near Shibe Park. His interest must have been revived by the sudden awakening of the Phillies . . . Bobbie Rosenfeld, of The Toronto Globe and Mail says the reason Thelma Golden quit the All-American Girls' Professional Softball League in Chicago, tossing that $100 a week down the drain, was "romance and a heavy one too . . . the heartthrob is a chappie in khaki."

On Monday evening, Mrs. Harvey Clarence Street entertained at a farewell party for Mrs. MacCorkindale, who is leaving for Vancouver. Mart Kenny and His Western Gentlemen entranced some 1,200 guests last night who attended the dance at the Empress Hotel in aid of Kinsmen charities. Enthusiastic lovers of the well-known musician reported his music "was very, very lovely, and he played true to Mart Kenny form." Members in charge of the affair were Kinsmen F. W. Fraser, in charge; Ron Whittington, and W. Passmore, president. In the early part of the evening, through arrangement with Lt. Hew Paterson and the sponsors of the orchestra, Mart Kenny played to cheering and wildly acclaiming men of H.M.C.S. Naden.

A bowl of roses flanked by white tapers in silver holders, centred the table, and at one end was a handsome christening cake which was cut with Staff-Sgt. Thyne's bayonet.

ESQUIMALT COMMUNITY CLUB

It was announced that plans for the Summer bazaar are well advanced and a tentative date, July 7, was set; the affair to be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Rickard, 724 Esquimalt Road. The treasurer's statement showed a satisfactory balance and reports were also submitted by the sick visiting conveners. During the month of May a social meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. W.A. to R.C.N. Has Need for More Members

At the business meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Navy, held yesterday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A., Mrs. Massey Goolden, president, spoke of the need of adding to the present personnel of the auxiliary. Eligible for membership, she said, are the wives and mothers of R.C.N. or allied naval officers, and she asked the members present to interest newcomers to the city in the work of the auxiliary, which aims to serve all branches of the service.

This last remark was justified by the very excellent reports submitted by the various committee conveners showing progress made in all branches of activity, generous donations being made to the following: Connaught Seamen's Institute, "to start the tag day," $50; the Esquimalt Service Home, which Mrs. R. P. Kingscote stated is doing admirable work for the sailor boys in Esquimalt, $25; the monthly cheque of $25 was sent to British Bundles, and a sum not exceeding $100 is to be forwarded to Prince Rupert for recreational purposes at the naval centre. A further donation of $50 was voted towards the ditty bags.

RECEIVE CASH DONATION

Mrs. R. P. Ponder, treasurer, stated a generous cash donation of $500 had been received by the auxiliary from the naval canteen at H.M.C.S. Naden. Other reports showed arrangements well in hand for the street dance scheduled for the last week in July, at which the Royal Canadian Navy Band will play and other attractions will include novelty stalls and refreshment stands.

Mrs. R. P. Kingscote, knitting convener, read a letter to the meeting from the base accountant officer, H.M.C. Dockyard, thanking the auxiliary for the fine gift of clothing received, which he said would be issued to the men on frigates. This shipment of 157 articles was made up of two turtle-neck sweaters, thirty scarves, fifteen pairs of mitts, thirty-four helmets, thirty-seven pairs of socks, twenty-five pairs of seaboot stockings, three caps and three tuck-ins. Concluding her report, Mrs. Kingscote voiced a special vote of thanks to the various groups knitting for the auxiliary.

CONVENERS NAMED

Mrs. E. L. Armstrong, newly-appointed second vice-president, is the general convener of the bazaar, which will be held in November. Assisting her will be Mrs. R. F. Astbury, fancywork stall; Mrs. H. Dodwell, babies' knitted wear; Mrs. M. Evans, stuffed toys, assisted by Nursing Sister Cornwall; Mrs. R. P. Ponder, aprons and kitchen accessories; Mrs. G. Hull, costume jewelry; Mrs. W. Adams, novelty boxes; Mrs. R. P. Kingscote, garden produce and preserves; Mrs. J. Sprinkle, business arrangements; Mrs. H. Morse-Rosser, "white elephant"; Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Massey Goolden and Mrs. A. Sadd, arts and crafts.

It was reported by the mending convener that more volunteers are needed to sew at Prince Robert House in order to keep the linen in good repair.

FILLING DITTY BAGS

The auxiliary is filling 200 ditty bags, "housewifes" for same now being completed. The members were asked to donate darning needles; eighty are needed and these are impossible to buy. Other articles required are small books, and the convener said towels are ready to be hemmed.

Progress is being made by the committee in charge of stripping and washing hats for windbreakers, 239 hats have been prepared during the past month.

The president announced that two cartons of survivors' bundles were shipped recently to the Ottawa headquarters of the auxiliary containing clean woolen clothing, underwear, shirts and trousers. She asked for donations for these bundles. Mrs. Goolden also stressed the need for an Autumn supply of knitted garments and urged the members to continue knitting during the Summer months.

The secretary's report showed four meetings held at the Y.W.C.A. and that an instructive film, "Next of Kin," had been enjoyed by the members through the courtesy of Captain J. F. Dick. The hospital visiting committee made many calls and appreciation was expressed to Mrs. Morse-Rosser who had assisted with the Canadian Forestry Corps' tag day.

Women's Institutes

LAKE HILL W.I.

A meeting of the Lake Hill W.I. was held recently with the president, Mrs. E. Glover, in the chair. Reports showed the committees connected with the first aid post and hostel had attended the recent air raid test, and that meetings are held regularly for practice. It was decided to hold a luncheon meeting on July 1 combined with a toy-making bee. The toys will be sent to a children's home in England. A donation of $5 was voted to the provincial per capita fund. Following the business session Mrs. Massey gave an account of the "remake revue" conducted by Mrs. Kate Aitken. A contest organized by Mrs. Glover was won by Mrs. Findley.

MRS. F. G. ALDOUS

Mrs. F. G. Aldous was re-elected by acclamation at the annual meeting of the Women's Canadian Club held Tuesday afternoon in the Empress Hotel. Other officers elected were: First vice-president, Mrs. A. J. Campbell; second vice-president, Mrs. K. C. Drury; honorary secretary, Mrs. D. L. McLaurin; literary secretary, Mrs. W. H. Wilson; treasurer, Mrs. Don MacAdie. The executive committee contains seven members, Mrs. Jack Barraclough, Mrs. Gordon Cameron, Mrs. Bruce Hutchison, Mrs. Harry Lasenby, Mrs. W. Stanley Moore, Mrs. Fred Pollard and Mrs. W. H. Yardley.

Mrs. H. L. Smith, honorary secretary, gave a resume of the year's activities, being the club's thirty-fourth annual report, in which she outlined the eighteen general meetings held, briefly referring to the various speakers. The club now numbers 887 members, she said, and told of the 150 articles donated to Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich A.R.P. caches through collections made by the members, enough to clothe 300 people. The sum of $161 was netted as the club's portion of the garden fete held last August at Government House, and this was donated to the Red Cross.

Sale of War Savings Stamps has been encouraged at the meetings, continued Mrs. Small, and at the request of Mrs. H. S. Hurn, organizer of stamp sales for Vancouver Island, the Women's Canadian Club formed a panel of speakers to further the sales. Flowers were supplied to the Royal Jubilee Hospital, and Mrs. Smith reported "no social functions have been held during the year, not even the bridge tea usually held for the bursary fund." This year that need is being met by individual envelopes for members' donations. The club again assisted with the flag raising ceremony at the Fourth Victory Loan campaign.

VARIED ACTIVITIES

The $100 scholarship to Victoria College for girl and boy was won by Jean Kathleen Grey and Rogers Hicks, while Beverley Findler won the Canadian history prize. In response to the old wool received for blankets thirty have been forwarded to Russia, and twenty-four have been placed against an emergency in Victoria. Seventy-five dollars was contributed to the Community Chest. Through the Victory Fair, and through donations from Mrs. Huntly Green from concerts, the sum of $1,145.95 was raised. After some discussion it was decided to leave expenditure of this sum until a future date. Sums already allotted from this include $81.98 for A.R.P. clothes caches, and $57.25 to make blankets for distribution in Victoria. Mrs. Smith expressed thanks to Mrs. W. G. Moore, music convener, for arranging entertaining programmes throughout the year.

Mrs. Walter Luney gave the treasurer's report, showing $3,204.52 had been received, $228.37 disbursed, leaving a balance of $1,174.15 on hand.

Two solos were contributed by Mrs. Sheila Morgan with accompaniments played by Mrs. Doreen Bradshaw.

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.P.P., moved a vote of thanks to retiring officers and scrutineers, who were under the direction of Mrs. Charles Conyers. Mrs. Aldous also expressed her appreciation of the club officers' assistance, and in bidding the members good-bye until September wished them "a happy Summer."

TALKS ON CHINA

Rev. Dr. A. J. Brace, an old friend of the Women's Canadian Club, was the speaker of the afternoon, taking as his subject one close to his heart, "Unconquerable China." This was the third time Dr. Brace has spoken before the club, and his easy, fluent, descriptive method of presenting his material brought China and the Chinese vividly before his audience.

Recalling the early days of the Manchurian episode, and the year 1937 in the undeclared war, the speaker related "fighting with practically bare hands" the Chinese had managed to destroy 1,000,000 Japanese; this against the latter's destruction of 8,000,000 Chinese killed, 9,000,000 wounded and 2,000,000 orphaned.

Glowing tribute was paid to Madame Chiang Kai-Shek. "What a woman!" marveled the speaker, "how she has thrilled us with her speeches." To her effort Dr. Brace attributed much of the help that is now going to China, and he spoke with enthusiasm of the lend-lease assignments being taken to China via India. He stressed the tremendous importance of aid to China, for without the Chinese as fighting factors in the Far East the Allied nations would have a dangerous enemy attacking from that side.

Dr. Brace, who has been in China since 1911, speaks of the Chinese with easy familiarity and with affection and respect for the fine qualities of that race. "Thank God they have a sense of humor! They do their best fighting with their backs to the wall—and their sense of humor is like ours!"

Interesting and unusual slides were shown by the speaker. Some of the pictures were only recently brought to Canada by Dr. Brace's son, and they served to present the speaker's case clearly and sympathetically. The new spirit that is being revealed in China must be fostered is the ringing challenge given by Dr. Brace. It must not be allowed to subside, and help to China is the essential ingredient in promoting this growth, he maintained.

Dr. Brace was thanked on behalf of the members by Mrs. John.

Tremendous Job Awaits Women

MONTREAL, June 8 (CP)—Lt.-Col. Joan Kennedy, officer commanding the Canadian Women's Army Corps, passing through Montreal on her recent arrival from overseas, said she had a fresh conviction of the "tremendous" job to be done in Canada by members of the C.W.A.C.

"You can't realize how much there is to do until you have seen the work being done by British women over there," she said.

Col. Kennedy spent three months in Britain, studying the work and organization of British women's services and seeing members of the C.W.A.C. at their jobs overseas.

She said it could be expected that "more and more" army women would be going overseas in the future.

Use the Gravy

Little things as well as the bigger ones can be drawn into the battle for economy. And one of the little things in the kitchen which might receive closer attention is the gravy bowl, says a housewife.

In the first place, don't serve too much gravy with the meat, she says. Don't slop the plate with it, encouraging the family to leave half of the good rich meat juice to be thrown out. Serve it in reasonably small quantities and the real gravy enthusiast can come back for a second helping.

What is left may be used to season leftover meat, added to panfried potatoes, or, if there is sufficient, it will stand being reheated. Reheated gravy served with hot potatoes can go a long way toward making cold meat more appetizing.

When preparing the gravy, says this authority, be sure it is sufficiently appetizing to warrant keeping "to the last drop." When a roast is cooked to the point of tenderness, pour off the excess fat. Then shake a little salt and pepper over the gravy pan, also a quarter-teaspoonful of mustard. Stir two tablespoonfuls of flour to smoothness in half a cup of cold water, fill it with hot water and pour into the gravy pan. Stir to smoothness and serve piping hot. Gravy made this way is easy to prepare and the mustard gives it an appetizing zest which stamps it with individuality.

TO TRAIN STAFFS

VANCOUVER, June 8 (CP)—Staffs of hostels to be established in the Fraser Valley for girl farm workers will go to school before they take up their duties. They will attend classes here under Mrs. Ella M. Angus, provincial supervisor for the hostels, in the management of the hostels and care of the workers.

Monterey P.-T.A. Elects Officers At Annual Meeting

C. H. Rutherford, chairman of Oak Bay School Board, was elected honorary president of Monterey P.-T.A. at the annual meeting held last night at the annex to Oak Bay High School. Other officers were: Mrs. L. R. Harper, re-elected president; Mrs. W. R. Gunn, first vice-president; Mrs. Ernest Evans, secretary, and Mrs. J. H. Fulton, treasurer.

Mrs. Thomas, Lumsden reported on the recently-held garden party and tea at the home of Mrs. F. W. G. Clark, held jointly with the Willows P.-T.A., and the sum of $30 will be forwarded to the Solarium and $80 to the Oak Bay playgrounds, while the remainder will be included in the P.-T.A. funds.

The treasurer's report revealed $60 was donated to Oak Bay A.R.P. and $120 spent on cigarettes for Monterey boys serving overseas.

Mrs. Harper and Mrs. J. H. Fulton will be co-conveners of the Fall bazaar, and meetings will be held throughout the Summer when members will prepare for this event.

Mrs. M. W. Dawson, president of P.-T.A. Victoria and District Council, installed the officers, and a pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation of corsage bouquets to Mrs. Lumsden, Mrs. Fulton and Mrs. Dawson, while tea conveners received boutonnieres.

London, Heart of Empire Enthrals C.W.A.C.

By CHARMAIN SANSOM

LONDON, England, June 8.—To a newly-arrived Canadian, London is so huge, so beautiful, and so different from anything that Canada has to offer, that it takes one's breath away.

We noticed at once the extreme friendliness of the English people. Members of the A.T.S. stopped us on the street to ask us to their dances, or to find out whether we knew where to go for a good meal. The Auxiliary Services arrange for girls going on leave to stay with English families, who treat them with the utmost kindness, and expect nothing in return. One day I started out to find an address in Knightsbridge. Not having the vaguest idea how to get there, decided that the best thing to do was to take a taxi and hope that it wouldn't be too expensive.

PTE. CHARMAIN SANSOM

If you want a cab in London, you stand on the most conspicuous corner you can find and either whistle or shout at them as they go by. After I had been going through this rather undignified procedure for several minutes, a cab finally stopped near me, and I started toward it, only to find that another woman had got there first. I was moving disappointedly away when she stopped me and offered to share the taxi with me. As we started on our way, she chatted in a most friendly manner, and when we reached my destination, she insisted on paying my share of the fare, gave me her address, and asked me to come to tea whenever I liked. I immediately abandoned all my preconceived ideas about English hauteur and reserve.

ALL WOMEN SMARTLY DRESSED

If we expected to find London demolished, and its citizens in rags, we were very much surprised. There has been comparatively little damage from bombs in the parts of London in which we live and work. As a matter of fact, a good deal of the damage is caused by the flack from our own guns which lands in the surrounding territory, breaking windows and leaving ugly scars on the outsides of houses. Most of the women you see on the streets are extremely smartly dressed, and go in for the most elaborate "hairdos." At restaurants, the food is very good, though plain, and extremely expensive, like everything else; and if you go away for a week-end, your hostess will make you much more welcome if you bring your ration card.

You "queue up" for everything in London, for buses, theatres, even restaurants. Everyone is very polite and uncomplaining about it.

PICK UP ENGLISH PHRASES

It is very easy to pick up English phrases, and you are bound to be the object of much ribald mirth if your room-mates hear you. The word "actually" begins to creep into your conversation, and you start to "take a dim view of things." If the "view" becomes "dim" enough you are apt to be "completely browned off, by Jove."

Hyde Park is the scene of many baseball games these evenings. The first time we organized a game, we had an audience in no time, of slightly amazed Londoners, and a few interested American and Canadian soldiers as well. I was trying to act as umpire and score-keeper at the same time, and consider myself lucky to have escaped with my life. A baseball league has been organized, and the various C.W.A.C. companies are to play-off for a trophy which has been put up by Mrs. Massey, the Canadian High Commissioner's wife.

Travels 1,300 Miles To Enlist in C.W.A.C.

TRAIL, June 8 (CP).—Mrs. Mary Ormerod, who traveled 1,300 miles from Fort St. John to make application here for enlistment in the Canadian Women's Army Corps, left here today for Vancouver to receive medical examination before she is accepted for enlistment.

Mrs. Ormerod served as a chef's assistant in the first Great War at the Seaforth Barracks, Liverpool. She tried to enlist in 1942, but failed because of her eyes. She recently heard of relaxation in C.W.A.C. requirements and paid her way to Trail to try again.

When Mrs. Ormerod first applied for enlistment she was living in Nelson. Not knowing she had moved, the Trail recruiting office notified her of the change in regulations regarding eyes. The letter was forwarded to her at Fort St. John.

"I don't care what job I have to do," Mrs. Ormerod said, "as long as I get in."

Historical Society Hears Lecture on Old-Time Stamps

An interesting illustrated talk on "History of Victoria From a Stamp Collector's Standpoint," was given Monday night before the British Columbia Historical Association by Gerald E. Wellburn, well-known stamp collector and past president of the Vancouver Island Philatelic Society.

Stamps of early colonial days were hard to get, he said, there being only eighteen varieties, and probably only half a dozen collectors in the world have a complete set; the Provincial Archives have one.

One of the rare stamps issued in 1865 and designed by the Royal Engineers showed V with the Morse counterpart running up each stroke. It was amazing, said Mr. Wellburn, to find the V motto so popular today in a stamp issued seventy-eight years ago. This was explained by the fact that people were just becoming conscious of the telegraph, which was then spreading its network over the world. A copy of a will dated 1795, letters from Prince Rupert, Sir George Simpson and others which traveled 12,476 miles around the Horn were shown. The cost of sending letters was sometimes as high as $2.50.

One interesting order made by one of the first fur traders requesting spectacles for a man of forty-seven years old who "could see at a distance," and twenty gallons of good Scotch whisky or pale brandy, amused the audience.

The speaker contrasted the time taken by early letters which came via Cape Horn with those that cross Canada by plane today in less than a day. The lecture told the story of the development of transportation and postage facilities, as well as many incidents of coast history.

A collection of historical records concerning the naval canteen and the Royal Naval Club at Esquimalt, and sent in by naval authorities, was accepted and handed over to the Provincial Archives.

George Gowan thanked Mr. Wellburn for his informative and absorbing address. F. C. Green, president of the association, was in the chair and introduced the speaker.

Convention of Dentists Here Comes to End

A two-day convention of the northern section of the Pacific Coast Society of Orthodontics at the Empress Hotel, presided over by Dr. M. R. Chipman, of Spokane, Washington, closed yesterday afternoon with general clinics and a business meeting.

An address on "Present-Day Orthodontics," Dr. Kenneth F. Terwilleger, of San Francisco, featured the morning session. It was a concise and interesting treatment of the subject. Dr. George W. Hahn, Berkeley, California, spoke on "Retention, the Orthodontic Step-child," and Dr. Glen F. Terwilleger, of Oakland, on "Mechanics of Bracket Attachments."

A general discussion followed the talks and the afternoon was spent in clinics. Some fifty delegates from the Northern Pacific Coast attended the meetings.

Dinner Closes Conference Here

The municipal officers of British Columbia and their wives were entertained by the Provincial Government at a dinner in the grill room of the Empress Hotel last night, the closing feature of a two-day convention of the association.

G. R. Leigh, of Port Coquitlam, newly-elected president of the Municipal Officers' Association, proposed the toast to Their Majesties; W. A. Greene, of Saanich, vice-president, to the Province, and Hon. Wells Gray, Minister of Municipal Affairs, responded.

"The Government of British Columbia realizes just how much the clerks and engineers and other officers of a municipality mean to their district, for while mayors and councillors come and go, their officials carry on, and when we cannot accede to all your demands, remember it is a matter of finance," Mr. Gray said.

Advising the officers to organize, he added: "We are further advanced than any other Province. We have everything."

In proposing the toast to members of the association, E. H. Bridgman, deputy minister, said they could count on his department to cooperate to the fullest with them. The present minister, Mr. Gray, had founded the department, and gave it the benefit of long experience with municipal affairs.

Seventy-five per cent of the inhabitants of the province lived within the bounds of municipalities, he said, and while they might not get everything they wanted, they would be treated fairly by a department that had the municipal viewpoint.

G. R. Leigh, president, responded to the toast.

M. F. Hunter's toast to "The Visitors" was answered by A. Soutter, deputy minister of Municipal Affairs for Alberta. Fred Howlett, clerk of Vancouver, proposed the toast to "The Ladies," which Mrs. R. C. Palmer gracefully acknowledged, and E. G. Rowebottom, deputy minister of Trade and Industry, paid tribute to the press, to which James K. Nesbitt replied.

During the dinner, Arthur Stringer sang several numbers. Travelogues shown by courtesy of the Department of Trade and Commerce brought the evening's festivities to a close.

Year's Resume Shows Fine Work of Jubilee Juniors

Mrs. R. A. Wootton, president, gave a splendid resume of the year's work at the annual meeting of the Junior Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital held Monday afternoon at the Nurses' Home. Mrs. Wootton termed the achievements of the auxiliary in serving the war effort through this work "keeping the home fires burning on the home front."

A total sum of $2,167 was expended during the year for useful works, it was reported by the treasurer, Mrs. A. Wright. These included the establishing of a blood bank, a civic enterprise, at a cost in equipment and operating expenses of $1,500. Social service endeavors, under the capable direction of Miss Martha McBride, increased enormously during the year, and is supported in great part by the auxiliary, the secretary, Mrs. Stanley Haynes, revealed in her report.

Other activities engaged in during the year were the making of bandages, supplying diets, milk and transportation to indigent patients and visiting hospitals and "out-patients"; knitting and sewing baby layettes, disbursement of magazines twice weekly throughout the wards, maintenance of a thrift shop; presentation of gifts and flowers to all ward patients at Christmas and Easter; supporting the Social Service Index and purchasing necessary equipment.

In detail the reports showed the equipment purchased included a portable X-ray lamp, costing $368; an automatic laboratory pipette, costing $110; chairs for the women's and men's annex, costing $90, and other items of fruit, jam, magazines, clothing, gifts and flowers, costing $158.

CANTEEN FOR STAFF AND VISITORS

An important new extension of the work of the auxiliary is the establishment this Summer of a canteen in the hospital for the use of the staff and visitors. It will be open every day throughout the year in the first south sunroom. Joint conveners of this new enterprise are Mrs. R. Newell and Mrs. S. Haynes.

Mrs. W. B. Wilson, convener, reviewed the establishment of the Blood Transfusion Bureau. She pointed out that when the second civic call for blood donors was made in May, 1942, the auxiliary opened a blood bank in the downtown area for the convenience of donors. By June, 1942, 650 persons had contributed and 184 pints of plasma were stored. Thanks were expressed to the Royal Canadian Navy surgeons, V.A.D.'s and volunteer nurses in the auxiliary and St. John Ambulance who gave assistance. The bank was opened for a third time in October and closed in November, having taken blood from 620 donors. To date there are on hand 390 plasma filled bottles which will be used for treatment of 1,000 casualties in case of air raid. The auxiliary finances and maintains the bank for the benefit of the citizens of Greater Victoria, Mrs. Wilson pointed out, and the plasma is to be used for any civilian casualty.

Details of the diet committee were given by Mrs. J. Copeman, showing that eighteen patients, ranging in age from eighteen months to ninety-five years were taken care of. A total of 1,559 quarts of milk, twelve baskets of fruit, three tins of Ovaltine, a folding chair, rubber sheet, blood transfusions and medicines were provided. One patient had been given daily care by the auxiliary for seven years. Miss Peggy Bagley, reporting for the magazine committee, showed that all wards had been provided with periodicals weekly and that purchases were now being made of new magazines, old ones being sent to the Salvation Army.

SOCIAL SERVICE

Miss McBride, in her social service report, showed that eighty-five indigent patients had been given free transportation, twenty-four given clothing, six given layettes, sixty cases had been transferred to nursing homes, and 125 home visits made in the patients' interests. Stressing the broadening scope of the department, Miss McBride pointed out that problems included planning for the chronic patient; the unmarried mother and her child; interpreting the work of the V.O.N.; finding rooms for patients and, in any emergency, paying for the rent; contacting outside agencies and relatives in patients' interests, solving individual personal problems, and giving milk, medicine and surgical supports.

A total of 92,136 pieces of bandaging was made during the year, the convener, Mrs. R. L. Smart, reported. Mrs. C. M. Aylard, convener of the sewing committee, reported that four layettes were completed and a gift of three layettes made by Mrs. Arthur Aylard. In her visiting report, Mrs. P. F. Howden showed that a total of 239 visits were made during the year and sixty-seven home visits, with the assistance of Mrs. A. Futcher. Miss Marcia Prior was in charge of purchasing gifts.

Mrs. L. Aylard, knitting convener, reported showcase sales of knitted articles during the year were $224 and receipts from a bazaar from knitted goods were $317.

The auxiliary now totals 100 active members, Mrs. M. Maclean reported, with eleven associate and twenty-three professional members. Many members have left for the armed services and the Nurses' Aid.

VANCOUVER, June 8 (CP).—Harvey Lyons, nineteen, and Benny Foster, twenty-three, prisoners who sawed their way out of a third-floor cell in Vancouver jail early Sunday and escaped down a rope of blankets, were recaptured today in a West End rooming house.

The two prisoners were brought to headquarters in handcuffs after detectives surprised them in a bedroom. At the time of their escape Lyons was awaiting trial on a charge of attempted burglary and Foster was awaiting sentence on a charge of retaining stolen property.

Coquitlam Clerk Heads Municipal Officers' Group

G. R. Leigh, clerk of the City of Coquitlam, was elected president of the Municipal Officers' Association of British Columbia at the afternoon session of the second day of the fifth annual conference, ending last night with a dinner tendered by the Provincial Government at the Empress Hotel.

[illegible] ipality of Saanich, was chosen vice-president, while S. L. Brice, clerk of the township of Chilliwack, became the new secretary-treasurer.

The newly-elected executive consists of J. J. Lye, clerk of Port Moody; F. C. Kitto, clerk of Ladysmith; G. H. Smith, clerk of Kelowna, and H. M. Levey, clerk of the Kamloops district.

Election of officers completed two days of business conferences in the Parliament Buildings, during which several interesting speakers were heard.

Earlier in the day O. H. Bell, regional superintendent of rationing, discussed rationing procedure and the imperative need of an orderly distribution of food and other products, and M. P. Hunter, past president of the association and present clerk of the City of Victoria, outlined the "Hunter Ballot," which this city has used for the past fourteen years and Alberni for nine years.

H. W. Jamieson, supervisor of education of the Federal Rehabilitation Branch, Ottawa, gave an address on "Postwar Discharge Rehabilitation," stating that in this war the level of basic education is much higher and as training in the highly-mechanized forces is more technical, many will have acquired new skills.

A recent survey covering 350,000 men in the forces showed 31,000 with completed junior matriculation, 12,000 with senior matriculation and 7,000 who were university graduates, said Mr. Jamieson.

"The moving assembly line from service in the armed forces, through vocational guidance and training to suitable employment, has been planned for and is being set up," he stated. The Government had a primary responsibility in helping these young people into civilian life, and the schools and communities had to do the personal things that no government could not, until the soldier had readjusted himself to civilian life, he said.

Already twenty-five discharged men were attending Canadian universities, Mr. Jamieson said, and a permanent skill was the only guarantee for ultimate preference in employment that a veteran could have.

"Dina Cashman"

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XXXV

"You knew Aline had left me?" Andrew Havens asked:

Dina brought startled eyes to his face.

"Left you!"

"Last Sunday. Yep," the man said briefly.

Her own interest in this situation touched Dina with a fine premonitory finger of fear. She turned and went to a great leather bench, and Andy sat down beside her.

The little gallery was flooded with November sunshine and deserted except for themselves. It was 11 o'clock in the morning; other visitors would trickle in to see the Havens portraits before noon, and the afternoon would find a smart crowd there, talking, drinking tea, studying the canvases that lined the walls. But it was empty now.

"But, Andy, what for?" the girl said.

"I don't know." He sighed, crossed his arms, leaned back, his lips pursed and whistling, his narrow eyes on space.

"Quarreled?"

"Nope."

"She's just—tired?"

"Guess so. I don't understand her. She says I never have. We moved down to Bill Cutter's place at Los Altos in June, you know. I thought it was swell down there. Everything blooming and warm, and we had Bill's old Looey Koo to run things. We couldn't go on in town; it was costing us more per week than I make in a month. Orders had stopped."

"Well, in August Aline said she wanted to go East to see her children. Your sister-in-law was going and she wanted to go with her."

"My sister-in-law? Oh, Caroline! Yes."

"She wanted money; she didn't know how much—a couple of thousand. Of course I didn't have it. That fussed her. Where could we get it? I said we couldn't get it any-where.

"Afterward she told me she'd tried to borrow it from Rogers, but he said not while she was my wife. Then she said she was sick of the place and of men and she was going to stay with—oh, someone—Mrs. Cylde, I think. She went off to the Rogue and to Lake Tahoe, was gone about six weeks. When she came back she began to talk about: divorce."

A silence. Then Dina said timidly: "How do you feel about it? I know how you love her!"

Suddenly the man sat erect and looked at her with bright, angry eyes under his tumbled hair.

"No, I don't love her; I suppose I never did," he said definitely in a hard voice. "I was carried away, as she was. She is one of the beautiful women of all time; I was flattered; it was all drinking and dancing, moonlight and cocktails—I don't know what happened. But it breaks me up to—I mean, I'm all mixed—it doesn't make sense!"

"She wants to marry Rogers," Dina said calmly.

"She'd throw him over at the drop of a hat if she got a better chance. She has twice." Andy answered moodily.

"She may not get a better chance this time," Dina observed. The man looked at her curiously.

"But he's—he's married to you!" Andy stammered.

"Yes, but I'd never refuse Rogers anything he asked of me," Dina said, her voice dreamy and her eyes far away. "He's been too wonderful to me; he's done too much for my people—"

"But if you love him, I'd not give him up to anyone like Aline!" Andy protested. "She's shown him twice what she thinks of him. She did love me," he went on. "We had some wonderful times together at first. But she's never loved him."

"You see, there are twenty years between Rogers and me, Andy, and it makes what he feels for me and what I feel for him, too, more like what a father and daughter might feel," Dina began with some difficulty.

"You've got a child!" the man countered, bewildered.

"Yes, yes, I know."

"You don't mean that you and Rogers might separate so that he and she could get married?"

"Well, there's no plan," Dina said hesitatingly, "but he has loved her all his life."

"Well, for Lord sakes!" Andy ejaculated under his breath.

"If Aline and Rogers are really planning anything," he presently added, "I'd like you to know—What is it?"

For Dina, suddenly pale, had gotten to her feet and turned so that her back was toward the entrance to the gallery.

CHEMISTRY HELPS TO WIN THE WAR

This Fly Costs Canada

$12,000,000 A Year!

Name?—Warble Fly.

Character?—Saboteur.

Nature of Sabotage?—Renders hides of cattle unfit for use in leather goods.

Result?—Less leather available for soldiers' boots and other necessary goods.

Cost?—Estimated annual loss caused by warble flies in this country is $12,000,000.

Sometimes called the heel fly, the warble fly lays its eggs amongst the leg hairs of cattle. These hatch into grubs and work their way through the animal's body to its back where they punch through the hide. The grubs then drop to the ground and begin their destructive cycle all over again.

To meet the urgent need for a remedy that will stamp out this saboteur, chemistry has developed a powder that attacks the attacker. It may one day bring the menace of the warble fly under control. Produced from tropical plants, it contains a powerful substance called Rotenone which, while highly poisonous to the grub, is harmless to man and domestic animals. Washed on infested cattle it kills the grub and ends the vicious cycle at that point.

C-I-L Warble Fly Powder is manufactured by the Fertilizer Division of Canadian Industries Limited. A boon to farmers, this chemical product will help to save valuable hides for the production of essential leather goods, especially boots for our fighting forces.

Making war on the warble fly is another example of products of industrial Chemistry which are aiding Canada's war effort.

What Today Means

"GEMINI"

If June 9 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m., from 1:15 to 3:15 p.m. and from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 a.m., from 5:15 to 7:15 p.m. and from 9:15 to 11:15 p.m.

Every cloud will have its silver lining on this date—if you only will look for it. With sufficient faith in yourself and the world at large you should be able to develop a degree of optimism that will be most satisfying. Make up your mind now that you will not let any irritable person upset you, for if you will seek the cause of their irritation you will, in all likelihood, discover overwrought nerves have befuddled their common sense and good judgment. Maternal instincts will be strong and the average member of the fair sex will be in a mothering humor, so single or married and engaged couples and those under Cupid's domination, will do well to remember a few words of encouragement can work miracles, and this may be one of those days when they will not only be needed but if freely given they will be greatly appreciated.

If you are a woman and June 9 is your birthday you are apt to become so intent on going those things you like to do you will overlook the fact you are not a machine but a human being requiring a certain amount of mental and physical relaxation, if you are to retain the right degree of efficiency. You may have to learn not to let any one person or thing absorb all of your attention. By having diversified interests, including social ones, you will get far more out of life. As a business operator or manager, trained nurse, technician, broker, milliner, modiste, actress, writer, teacher, lecturer, demonstrator, secretary, musician, singer, artist, worker in a war plant, or as a public office holder, your results should be extremely gratifying. A similarity of taste and ideas should be instrumental in making you and your matrimonial choice unusually congenial and happy.

The child born on June 9 frequently expresses itself in a decidedly whimsical manner that proves most effective when it is used to get some well-defined results. Through its knack of making friends, concentrating on the work it has in hand, and its ability to do whatever it has to do exceptionally well, Gemini's youngsters should have no trouble going through life getting excellent results.

If you are a man and June 9 is your natal day you should keep in mind constantly the thought that "you can catch more flies with sugar than vinegar" and that goods whether they emanate from a man or dog, repel rather than attract friendly overtures. As a public accountant, financier, broker, sales representative, business executive, politician, lawyer, doctor, architect, engineer, theologian, journalist, publisher, sculptor, artist, explorer, scientist, theatrical man, or through participation in military activities you should be able to distinguish yourself in more ways than one and find a happy solution for all of your future financial problems.

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

IN THE MAIL BAG

Dear Sir: Seeing an announcement in your column "Glancing Over Sport" that Elmer Kreller is shortly to be married I am making a suggestion that the fans at the Athletic Park put on an "Elmer Kreller Night."

As soon as he returns from his wedding trip, some evening when the Army club is playing the fans could bring him and his bride presents for his future household. A ten or fifteen-minute intermission could be granted by the league, say between the fifth or sixth inning, when someone connected with the league or anyone interested in baseball, say Alderman Duncan McTavish, for instance, could present the gifts to Elmer and his bride in front of the grandstand on behalf of the fans of the city.

Often in Vancouver they have staged a "popular players' night" like the above with good results. Also you have read in the paper that sometimes in the United States fans have given a certain popular player a car during an intermission in the ball game, so let the fans of Victoria pay tribute to a clean, popular player. This could be put on by the sporting editors of our two papers here as it must have their co-operation in letting the fans know. What do you think of this plan? Yours truly

LEN SCOTT.

2630 Quadra Street.

Comment: A very good suggestion indeed. Kreller has been popular ever since the first night he skated out on the ice at the Willows Arena, and now that he is playing baseball for the soldiers, a wide open wedding night for him wouldn't be at all out of order. If the idea is given the sanction of the parties concerned we, in this department, would back it up 100 per cent, and I know my friend down at the next corner would co-operate to the limit of his power. However, the Victoria Baseball Association must be contacted first and the matter discussed with its executive before anything can be done. It's a good idea, so let's hope the party is staged.

ODDS AND ENDS

With the weatherman acting halfway decent the last few days there should be a large crowd at this evening's ball game when the league leading shipbuilders take the field against the Navy. It will be Tommy Musgrave vs. Jimmy Dumeah and, if both hurlers are at their best, it is expected to be one of the best mound duels of the season so far. The winner, well, yours truly is going out on the limb and take the sailors to finish in front . . .

According to reports two more well-known sport writers are leaving The Vancouver Sun around the end of the month when Jack Patterson, in charge of the desk, and Keith Mathews depart for the army . . .

Answering a query for a couple of sailors who did a little wagering: Joe Louis was kayoed by Max Schmeling on June 18, 1936, in the twelfth round. The following year he won the crown by stopping Jim Braddock in the eighth. You all know what happened in the second fight with the German . . .

Gunder Haegg, noted Swedish runner, says he will hang up his shoes when his tour in the United States is finished. The chances are if he smashes a flock of records the professional contracts will be thrown his way by the handful. If the offer is big enough he will depart from the simon-pure ranks for good.

FROM HERE AND THERE

Remember Roy Yamamura and Ki Nakamura, two well-known Vancouver ball players when they were performing with the Ashias in the senior circuit? Well, they are now playing softball for a team called the Milkmaids at Hamilton. They were moved with the rest of the Japanese population in the province to Ontario and other parts of Canada . . . Due to the Joe Louis ring influence, which, by the way, was paramount, more negro fighters are active in American rings today than ever before . . . Charles Hare and Bunny Austin, two English Davis Cup stars in the days if international competition, are stationed at Atlantic City. The former is with a medical detachment and Austin is taking basic infantry training . . . Bill Dickey, veteran catcher for the champion New York Yankees, celebrated his thirty-sixth birthday just the other day. He did all right for himself that afternoon by collecting two singles and a double in five trips to the plate . . . Virginia Wilson, noted Toronto amateur ice skater, is going to remain in the Simon-pure ranks. She has declined a neat offer from the Icecapades to turn professional. I guess Miss Wilson does pretty well for herself even in the amateur competitions . . . Al Schondienst is regarded by Rochester experts as a second Marty Marion at shortstop. He's a six-footer and is only twenty. Al expects to be with the St. Louis Cardinals before the present season is much older.

Pep and Bivins Still Champions

Former Outpoints Sal Bartolo—Cleveland Negro Scores Kayo

BOSTON, June 8 (AP).—Willie Pep, Hartford holder of the New York version of the featherweight title, prevented further middling of that division's affairs by out-pointing Sal Bartolo, of Boston, in easy fashion tonight in a fifteen-round championship bout at Braves Field.

Pep failed to carry every round only because of his cautious start. He began in such slow fashion that Bartolo stayed on even terms with him until the third round. From then on Pep's left and his speedy and efficient footwork checked Bartolo.

This so-called championship contest, first such outdoor extravaganza, caused a breach between the Massachusetts and New York Boxing Commission. The latter state's solons, who enthroned Pep when he defeated Chalky Wright last November, ruled that he could defend his laurels only under their jurisdiction. The Massachusetts commissioners promised featherweight championship recognition to the winner.

It became evident as soon as Pep scored the first of his accurate left jabs and he averaged about ten a round, that he had Bartolo's measure.

Jackie Calliura of Hamilton, Ont., is the N.B.A.'s 126-pound standard bearer.

Pep, at 126, had a half-pound advantage on Bartolo last April when they clashed here in an overweight match. Bartolo had a sixth-round knockout almost in his grasp and wound up in the tenth only a single point behind the Connecticut youngster.

The Bostonian didn't make any kind of a serious gesture tonight until the sixth round when he closed in fast and landed three glancing lefts on the head as Pep retreated to safety. In the tenth, a similar Bartolo charge saw him landing a left and right that drew a few drops of blood from the Pep nose.

That, however, was the only damage suffered by the dominant titlist. But, despite the many blows Pep landed, he only succeeded in half-closing Bartolo's left eye and the nearest thing to a knockdown came when the clinching Bartolo tried to spin Pep and lost his own footing for a fraction of a second.

CLEVELAND, June 8 (AP).—Jimmy Bivins, hard-hitting Cleveland negro, successfully defended his duration light-heavyweight title by knocking out Lloyd Marshall, of California, in the thirteenth round of their fight at Cleveland Stadium tonight. Bivins at 174 had a ten-pound advantage over Marshall, also a negro.

Captures Top Place

Naval College Track Winners

A strong, well-balanced team of track and field stars from the Royal Canadian Naval College captured top honors in the annual inter-high meeting held on Monday on the Victoria High School grounds by finishing with a point-total of seventeen and a half. However, the boys only nosed out Brentwood College by half a point after many exciting finishes during the programme arranged by officials of the Y.M.C.A.

Records were wiped out by the athletes. They were the half-mile, century dash and the quarter-mile. R. Henshaw, Naval College, ran a beautiful race in winning the 880-yard event and was clocked in 2:06 4-5, two and one-fifth seconds better than the standard hung up by Bill Dale, J. Rowe, of Mount Douglas High, finished second, and A. Fox, a teammate of the winner, checked home in third spot. Another mark was set in the 100-yard dash when W. Pinkard was timed in ten seconds flat as he hit the tape for a Brentwood College victory. The youngster sliced a fifth of a second from the old mark held jointly by Freddy Smith, Jimmy Stewart, Dick Surphlis and R. Wilkinson. A. Cockeram, Naval College, was second in the sprint and R. Hetherington, Oak Bay student, was a close third.

SCORES DOUBLE VICTORY

Pinkard chalked up a double win by speeding to victory in the 220 and he was timed in :24 4-5 to just edge out Ronnie Dalziel, University School, while Hetherington ended up in third place. Dalziel came back to establish anyother record for the books when he flashed over the quarter-mile course in :53 1-5, bettering Lynn Patrick's mark by three-fifths of a second.

Other winners were: Shot put—I. D. Sabiston, Naval College; 2, F. Oxenbury, Brentwood; 3, D. Woodhouse, Oak Bay High. Broad jump—1, K. Restall, Mount View High; 2, A. Calhoun, Brentwood; 3, R. Hetherington, Oak Bay High. High jump—1, J. Rowe, Mount Douglas High; 2, D. Sabiston, Naval College; 3, L. Wilson, Oak Bay High. Yanks Sign Up Young Pitcher

WELLESLEY, Mass., June 7 (AP).—The signing by New York Yankees of Donald (Wink) Murray, ace pitcher of the Wellesley High School baseball team, was reported today by Harold Goodnough, his coach. Goodnough added that the young hurler had received a "substantial bonus" for signing the Yankee contract.

Murray, who fanned 186 batters in fifty-one innings and won five games against but one loss for his school this season, has been ordered to report to the Newark farm club of the Yankees. He will be eligible for the draft not long after his graduation this month.

Leading Batters In Big Leagues

Stephens and Dahlgren Holding First Places in Ball Circuits

CHICAGO, June 8 (AP).—Roy Cullenbine, the nomad of baseball who has been with ten different clubs in as many seasons, is proving to be a keyman in the Cleveland Indians American League pennants plans this year.

On the basis of 100 or more times at bat, Cullenbine was the fifth leading hitter in games through Sunday with a mark of .315. He got seven hits in fourteen trips during his last four games in an endeavor to overtake his teammate, Chris Hockett, who had clipped .343 for second place.

Vern Stephens, the St. Louis shortstop, still topped the batters with .369. Johnny Lindell, of New York, was third with .317, and Detroit's Dick Wakefield was fourth with .316. Pinky Higgins, of Detroit, was sixth with .300, followed by Pete Fox, of Boston, with .283; Charlie Keller, of New York, and George Case, of Washington, with .282 apiece and Roger Cramer, of Detroit, with .274. Keller led in home runs with eight.

Heading the pitching department with four wins and no losses was Milo Candini, of Washington.

Dahlgren, who has had a hard time keeping a regular job in the major leagues, isn't having any trouble keeping the batting lead in the National League.

The infield star of Philadelphia Phillies, who moved into first place more than a week ago with an average of .368, still had a mark of .367 today.

His closest competitor was Stan Musial, outfielder of the world champions, St. Louis Cardinals, who was second a week ago and improved his average during the week by seven points, to .352.

Arrayed behind this pair were Harry Walker, St. Louis, .348; Billy Herman, Brooklyn, .335; Frank McCormick, Cincinnati, .325; Stan Hack, Chicago, .321; George Kurowski, St. Louis, .319; Tommy Holmes, Boston, .312; Johnny McCarthy, Boston, .309, and Lonnie Frey, Cincinnati, .305.

Dolph Camilli, of Brooklyn, has scored the most runs, 34. Vince DiMaggio, of Pittsburgh, the home-run leader, has rapped out seven circuit clouts.

Buck Newsom, of Brooklyn, and Truett (Rip) Sewell, of the Pirates, tied for the pitching, each four victories and one defeat.

Angels Set Back Seals by 8-1 Score

(By The Associated Press)

Pounding in all their runs off San Francisco's crack righthander, Ray Harrell, the league-leading Angels scored an 8-1 victory over the Seals yesterday in the opening game of the week's vital series between the two rival clubs.

Oakland scored two runs in the eighth inning after Hollywood had tied the score in the seventh, to take the opener of their series, 5-3. Cotton Pippin, ace Oakland hurler, had the better of the pitching honors over Eddie Erautt, allowing but five hits to ten garnered by the Oaks.

Champions And Navy To Meet

Musgrave, Dumeah Opposing Hurlers

When Victoria Machinery Depot and Royal Canadian Navy ball nines, first and second berth occupants, respectively, in the 1943 flag chase, meet in this evening's diamond classic at Royal Athletic Park, two of the top-flight hurlers in the circuit will see action on the mound.

Tommy Musgrave, husky right-hander, undefeated this season, will parade to the mound for the defending champions, and Jimmy Dumeah first-string flinger in the sailor camp, will do the hurling for the bluejackets.

Third meeting of the clubs, tonight's "rubber" finds them on even terms. Shipbuilders defeated the Navy, 8-6, in the first contest, and the sailors checked in with a 5-4 verdict in the second fixture.

It was Dumeah who heaved the bluejackets to their 5-4 verdict a few weeks ago, and baseball fans are wondering if the former Windsor pitcher can make it two straight against the well-balanced, heavy-hitting baseball machine coached by Laurel Harney. The Navy hurler has had plenty of rest and certainly cannot complain of being overworked.

Tommy Musgrave, V.M.D.'s ace flinger, had already hit mid-season form and should prove tough to beat. With his league record intact and a win over the smart Bellingham club to his credit, the big right-hander will be out to keep his winning streak intact. Game time is 6:30 o'clock.

6:15—Navy vs. R.C.A.F., first game; V.M.D. vs. Army, second game.

Defeat of the pace-setting V.M.D. squad by the Royal Canadian Air Force and Army's victory over the Navy created a three-way first-place tie in the Senior "A" circuit of the Lower Island Softball Association.

Sergeant Lou Labovitch's Flyers defeated the shipbuilders, 7-5, in the afterpiece of the double bill at Royal Athletic Park, and Sergeant Pakenham's vastly improved Army team turned back the Navy 9-3, in the curtain raiser.

Right now the soldiers their lineup finally settled after considerable player juggling, look as good as anything in the senior circuit. They turned in a smart defensive exhibition last night behind the seven-hit hurling of Sammy Kennedy, and hit the ball in the pinches to score important runs against the bluejackets.

Troops never wasted any time getting runs against the sailors. They started to hit Johns, a new Navy hurler, in the very first frame, and before the next inning was completed Mr. Johns vacated the hillock. He was charged with four runs during his work on the mound.

Larry Eggerston, former Saskatoon "big apple" pitcher, took over from Johns, but the soldiers refused to stop firing. They added five markers from the "change-of-pace" offerings of Eggerston for a total of nine runs.

Sammy Kennedy, making his second start at the local ball park, pitched seven-hit ball for the soldiers, and kept the base knocks well scattered.

Grunder, playing centre field for the troops, made some spectacular catches in the outer gardens.

FLYERS BEAT V.M.D. IN SECOND FIXTURE

Bunching their hits in the four scoring frames, Sergeant Lou Labovitch's Royal Canadian Air Force softballers defeated V.M.D., 7-5, in the nightcap attraction of the double bill.

Flyers poked out a total of seven base knocks from the "slants of Harold Taylor, former Vancouver hurler, and displayed a lot of speed on the paths.

Single runs in the first and second frames moved the R.C.A.F. ahead, 2-0, and a four-run uprising featured by Gordon's homer with one on, gave the Flyers a 6-0 lead in the first four innings.

Known for their ability to fight back, shipbuilders broke into the scoring column with a pair of markers in the fifth and threw a lot of excitement into a seventh-inning rally which fell short of tying the score by two markers.

Harry Braverman, Flyers' one-man hurling staff, was nicked for five base hits, and at times had trouble finding the plate. Taylor, V.M.D. flinger, gave up seven safeties. Twelve batters fanned, with the R.C.A.F. hurler taking out nine.

Gunder Haegg Limbers Up

Swedish Runner Opens Training

HANOVER, N.H., June 8 (AP) — Gunder Haegg, sensational Swedish runner who has seven world records to his credit, today compared his Dartmouth training quarters favorably with his homeland.

"This reminds me of the country around Jamtland, my Northern Sweden birthplace," Haegg said through Sig Steinwall, his interpreter and masseur, when he arrived here from New York. "I'm sure I will like it here. It's so cool and quiet."

Steinwall, a former Dartmouth ski coach, added that Haegg desired rest and solitude more than anything else for, he explained, his charge has not had time to become acclimated after his twenty-seven-day tanker trip from Sweden to New Orleans.

As soon as Steinwall had Haegg settled in the Dartmouth football coaches' quarters in the Davis Field house, the former took him downstairs to view the lightning-fast sixth-of-a-mile board track on which Glenn Cunningham ran his 4:04.4 mile, the fastest in history. Haegg's accepted record for that distance outdoors is 4:04.6.

Those historic boards, however, held Haegg's attention for only a short time. He tested it with a foot in cautious fashion and then suggested to Steinwall that they don track attire and go for a jaunt in the woods. Steinwall, who knows all of the ski trails hereabouts, led Haegg over a two-mile course along the Connecticut River.

"Gunder will start his training tomorrow," Steinwall said. "We plan to have morning and afternoon workouts and all of them will be in the woods, for that is where he did most of his training at home."

When members of Tynedale, Northumberland, Hunt learned that a destroyer of the Hunt class had been named after them, they decided to establish a link between the hunter of the seas and themselves. A special hunt was arranged and a fine fox was killed. The mask and brush were mounted, inscribed and presented to H.M.S. Tynedale.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP).—Light profit taking continued today as a moderate stock market repressant.

Monday's downward drift was resumed at the opening and by midday losses of fractions to more than 2 points were widely distributed. [illegible] throughout, however, and support in the final hour cut extreme declines substantially at the close.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks was off .3 of a point at 51.4. Last Saturday the composite touched 52.2, a peak since November 6, 1939, and had climbed nearly thirteen full points since last December 1, one of the sharpest swings in several years.

Transfers totaled 1,077,520 shares against 1,212,820 Monday.

In face of the retreat in virtually all departments, American Radiator and United Drug registered new tops for 1943. The last named gained a point at 13 3-4 in the wake of reports the company was considering calling its 5 per cent debentures due in 1953, of which some $30,000,000 are outstanding.

Prominent on the losing end were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Caterpillar Tractor, Douglas Aircraft, Cerro de Pasco, Du Pont and Eastman Kodak.

Most improvement was shown for Texas Co., Public Service of N.J., American Can, International Harvester, Sperry and Woolworth.

TIPPING THE BUTCHER

LONDON (CP). — British shoppers who "slip the butcher or the grocer" an occasional shilling have been warned by the Food Ministry that such tips constitute "secret commissions" and are punishable offences.

Special Buses To Take Pickers To Saanich Farms

Saanich strawberries are expected to begin ripening in commercial quantities between now and next week-end and the first "pickers special" will leave Victoria Monday morning for the opening of the harvest. By arrangement a special return fare has been provided by [illegible] which will leave at 7:15 every morning and return about 5 p.m.

The initial tickets will be on sale at the Emergency Farm Labor Service office, 909 Government Street, on Friday and Saturday, other special tickets being sold by the growers to their helpers. The farm service office will be open until 6 o'clock Saturday for the accommodation of prospective harvesters.

During the past few days Volunteer Field Fighters have been engaged in laying straw through the patche on the Saanich Peninsula. The majority of these have been wives of officers and servicemen now resident in the Sidney area, about a hundred of whom are expected to join the Victoria contingent in the fields.

With the picking season opening on Monday the strawberry harvest is expected to reach its peak about the week-end of June 21 and to overlap the logan and raspberry crops which will provide work for several hundred pickers over a considerable period.

Describes Raids By Bombers on Fleeing Chinese

More than 900 students of Victoria High School filled the school auditorium yesterday to hear Duncan McRoberts, Irish Presbyterian missionary, describe his experiences during four and one-half years in fighting China.

With a map beside him, he told the children of various parts of the country, of the bombing raids he had endured, and of the strafing and bombing of refugees who crowded the narrow roads in trying to escape the Japanese.

Introduced by Mun Hope, a former student of the school, Mr. McRoberts spoke for one hour, and was thanked for his appearance by H. L. Smith, principal.

At 3:30 p.m. today Mr. McRoberts will attend the opening of the new A.R.P. first aid post in the Chinese Hospital, 555 Herald Street, with Inspector S. P. M. Moodie, of the Provincial Civilian Protection Committee; Captain G. R. Bates, chairman of the Controllers' Association of British Columbia, North Vancouver, and Acting Mayor Archie Wills. Joseph Hope, head of the Chinese A.R.P. here, will preside.

Mr. McRoberts will speak tonight at 8 o'clock in Victoria High School auditorium to A.R.P. personnel of Victoria and district. At the same meeting Acting Mayor Wills will present gas instructors' certificates to ten qualified graduates of the recent course conducted here.

"That this City Council express to H. J. Symington, K.C., president, Trans-Canada Air Lines, Ltd., its pleasure and gratification with the success achieved by the company in making Victoria the western terminus of the Trans-Canada Air Lines system, which came into effect officially on June 7; its appreciation of the valued co-operation evinced by the company and of the personal interest and efforts of Mr. Symington in this important matter; and its acknowledgment of the many valuable benefits which will accrue to this city and district as a result of the inauguration of this service here."

Prison Term for Supplying Wine

Louie West pleaded guilty yesterday in city police court to a charge of supplying grape wine to an Indian last Saturday, and was sentenced by Magistrate Henry C. Hall to serve three months in prison at hard labor. Evidence of the transaction was given by Constable Harley Davidson.

A charge against the accused of supplying the same kind of beverage to another Indian was withdrawn.

Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor, revealed five previous convictions against the accused for stealing automobiles, one for stealing a bicycle, and another for possessing housebreaking instruments, between 1937 and 1941.

West stated that he worked with Indians, and hesitated to turn them down when they asked him for liquor.

Warns Japanese Set on Forcing China Out of War

A warning that the Japanese are set on forcing China out of the war, and are in a better position now in view of Allied reverses in the East, was made yesterday by Dr. A. J. Brace, international secretary of Y.M.C.A. World Service, with headquarters in Toronto.

"Our job would be much more costly and much longer if China were out of the war," he said.

General secretary here from 1906 to 1911, during which time the present Y.M.C.A. building was erected, Dr. Brace spent the following twenty-five years in China, and was general secretary of the largest "Y" organization in Western China. He is now touring Canada and the United States to interpret the work of the Y.M.C.A. in war.

He spoke before the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon, and visited local military establishments last night. Tonight he will meet members of the Y.M.C.A. boys' work committee.

On Thursday Dr. Brace will speak at the Rotary luncheon in the Empress Hotel, will meet religious and foreign service workers of the "Y" in the afternoon and will spend the evening with young people's groups. On Friday he will leave for Seattle.

He said China has given greatest recognition to the Y.M.C.A., having secretaries working for the Government and with the armies.

Proposal to Aid Farm Laborers

A resolution recommending to the Federal Government that a farm survey be carried out to accommodate hired help after the war, and that an early survey be made of farms where such accommodation is necessary, and where the farmer has sufficient stock on hand to offer continuous employment to married and single persons, was passed by the Oak Bay Conservative Association at its half-yearly meeting on Monday.

The resolution was made in order to encourage the most suitable type of agricultural immigrant after the cessation of hostilities, and to encourage the young men who left farms to join the forces to return to the land.

Public questions were carefully discussed through the year, it was reported, and although the body is a provincial association, because of the prominent part Oak Bay takes in Greater Victoria life, all Federal questions also were considered. The next meeting will be held either on September 13, or at the call of the chair.

On Thursday at 3.30 p.m. a special committee of the chamber will meet to discuss the question of succession duties, brought to the attention of the chamber recently, P. A. Gibbs will preside.

Discussion of the British Columbia regional convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, to be held in Vancouver, will take place at a meeting of the local junior chamber, to be held on Friday at 3.30 p.m., with T. M. Little, president, in the chair.

Servicemen Must Receive Benefits In Postwar Era

Rehabilitation benefits for returned servicemen and women after the war must not be considered as charity, but as a fair deal to those who have willingly risked their all to preserve freedom, A. W. Crawford, of Ottawa, superintendent of Dominion Vocational Training Department of Pensions and National Health, told members of the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

"It is going to require an all-out effort to change over from a war economy to a peace economy," Mr. Crawford stated. "We will need the assistance not only of governmental departments and committees, but of employers and managers all over Canada."

Discussing the efforts being made in the matter of rehabilitation for service people, the speaker described what has been done so far, listing such measures as clothing allowances, rehabilitation grants, transportation money, medical treatment, compulsory re-employment, vocational training and educational benefits, which will be provided by the Government to the discharged men and women.

"Some criticize these early efforts, saying such action detracts from the war effort," he declared. "But already 80,000 men and women have been discharged from the services, many disabled."

COMMITTEE TO EXAMINE PROBLEM

As far back as September, 1939, Mr. Crawford pointed out, a parliamentary committee was set up to examine the problem of providing for the returned men and women, and an advisory committee and sub-committees were formed to handle such different departments as interrupted education, women's problems and training for the returned men.

With respect to vocational training, Mr. Crawford said he hopes to contact every industry in the various communities, so that the training facilities of industry and commerce can be used to the full.

"We don't want to train the men just because they are returned soldiers, but because they can do certain jobs and are needed," he declared.

In answer to a question by Lieut.-Col. F. Brooke-Stephenson as to the provision of jobs for men and women when they have been rehabilitated and trained, Mr. Crawford said the problem of reconstruction, which is even bigger than rehabilitation, is being seriously considered by the Government.

Women Are Fine Radio Operators

Women are taking their place in the ranks of T.C.A. personnel, and twenty are now proving themselves to be efficient radio operators, E. W. Stull, superintendent of operations, said here yesterday.

Trans-Canada Air Lines now has 1,800 employees, he said, of whom 500 are women. All are being constantly trained with a view to future developments, he said.

Mr. Stull remained in Victoria after the party of officials which welcomed the opening of the service here had left, in order to organize the Victoria operating department.

The service began with the first arrival at 11:25 p.m. on Sunday, Two of the first passengers from Victoria were Stuart Henderson, en route to Ottawa in regard to an application for leave to appeal judgments against J. G. Simpson, J. A. Walsh, G. H. Hall and L. J. Simmons, and Frank Higgins, K.C., whose destination was Calgary. They left here on Monday afternoon.

Special Sunday Salvage Campaign In Victoria West

A special drive for salvage will be conducted in Victoria West on Sunday by the Salvage Corps of British Columbia with the co-operation of the Victoria West Parent-Teacher Association, when a personal call will be made at each home in the district.

The committee in charge is led by Mrs. A. Mawer, president of the association, who has enlisted the assistance of school pupils and A.R.P. personnel. The Winnipeg block plan will be used, whereby a captain has the responsibility of educating immediate neighbors of the need of salvage collection, and methods of arranging the salvage for easy pickup on collection day.

Six trucks will assemble at Victoria West School on Sunday at 8.50 a.m. with two schoolboys to each truck, and each with certain streets to canvass. Jack Krsanby and E. A. Morris, Ltd. will each lend a truck for the campaign.

Householders may assist in the drive by placing the salvage they have collected in front of their homes before 9 a.m. on Sunday.

Anyhow, She Had A Good Memory

The lady knew her street and house number. She also gave correctly the number of her car, likewise the year, 1938, make, color, body type and miscellaneous data which might help the police to recover the vehicle she was reporting as stolen from her garage three nights ago.

"Wonderful memory," the sergeant said, "wish they were all like that." Then he went to work. First, he broadcast to radio-equipped police cars a description of the missing coupe. He notified the motorcycle squad. Next, he informed the Saanich, Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Provincial Police departments. Finally, he posted on the bulletin board a description for the information of constables on foot.

A surprising number of cars are recovered in just that way. It means, however, a considerable volume of man hours, a goodly consumption of gasoline by police cars and motorcycles and quite a bit of wear and tear on rubber and shoe leather, but usually it gets results.

Still, after three days, the police were totally devoid of luck in their search for the missing car. But yesterday, the phone rang. Believe it or not, the car had been recovered! Whoever had taken it was thoughtful enough to return it and replace it in the garage on the very same day on which it had been taken!

The lady whose memory the sergeant so greatly admired had, for three days, forgotten to notify the police that her car was safely home again.

Suggests Reduction Of Coal Consumption To Relieve Shortage

Coal dealers of Victoria discussed their problems yesterday with Thomas Marshall, western representative of the coal controller, who was here to collect data on how a fuel shortage here this coming Winter can be relieved.

Full co-operation had been promised by the dealers, he said.

"If consumers will sacrifice a little comfort in their homes, and make their fuel last, the saving will go a long way toward easing the problem," Mr. Marshall said last night.

"We may be affected by the coal situation in the United States, since we import about 50 per cent of our coal from across the line. Since the armed forces are making sacrifices, the public should be able to endure lower temperatures in their homes."

Annual Summer Camps For Reserve Forces To Be Held in July

Four of the five reserve units of Victoria will go to Heal's Range for the Summer camp period, which will be held from July 11 to 25, Lt.-Col. F. Brooke Stephenson, officer commanding the 3rd Battalion, The Canadian Scottish Regiment, said yesterday.

Others at the camp besides the Canadian Scottish will be the 114th (Inf.) Reserve Company, Veterans' Guard of Canada, under Major J. R. McIlree, D.S.O.; No. 1 Res. Fortress Workshop, Major A. McFarlane; 13th (Res.) Field Ambulance, R.C.A.M.C., Major A. B. Nash.

The 20ird (Reserve) Field Battery, under Capt. R. L. Challoner, fifth of the Victoria units, will train at the Comox Range, Oyster River. The battery will leave here by special train on July 18, and will return on July 31.

Posted Missing

Flying Officer Bruce J. Wright, R.C.A.F., of Victoria, is listed as missing on active service after air operations overseas, in the 506th air force casualty list issued yesterday. His next of kin is given as his father, C. J. Wright, 306 Robertson Street.

Taking Care

A friend of the staff who is now in service overseas says he used to wonder why so much care was taken in packing mail parcels, but realizes now after receiving several parcels since his arrival over there that this particular care is not in vain, proven by the condition of the boxes he has received.

FAT IS AMMUNITION!

Fat and bone conservation begins at home and ends in the firing line

- DO YOU KNOW -

One pound of fat supplies enough glycerine to fire 150 bullets from a Bren gun.

Two pounds of fat will fire a burst of 20 cannon shells from a Spitfire or 10 anti-aircraft shells.

Bones produce fat and aircraft glue.

If we saved fat at the rate of one ounce per person per week this would mean 36,000,000 pounds per year, enough to produce 3,600,000 pounds of glycerine for explosives.

OUR FIGHTERS DEPEND ON YOU

"Every householder who delivers to a retail butcher, collector, or Salvage Committee, any rendered or unrendered fats or bones shall be entitled to receive from the person to whom they are delivered 4 cents per pound net weight for rendered fats, and 1 cent per pound for unrendered fats."

The above paragraph is a direct quotation from Order A-642 of The Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

"Rendered fat" means fat melted down and strained to remove solid matter. It includes drippings and strained pan grease resulting from the cooking of meat.

"Unrendered fat" means raw or partially cooked fat free from lean meat and bone, but not fully rendered.

"Bones" means raw or cooked bones of cattle, sheep and hogs.

EVERY OUNCE COUNTS!

SAVE AND STRAIN EVERY DROP TO SPEED VICTORY. SELL IT TO YOUR BUTCHER OR GIVE IT TO YOUR SALVAGE COMMITTEE.

NOTICE TO BUTCHERS, HOTELS, ETC.

You have been mailed a copy of Order A-642. This Order affects operators of hotels, restaurants and other establishments where meals are served. It is of immediate importance to butchers and slaughterers. If your copy has been lost, you can obtain another from the nearest office of The Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Famed Army Show To Appear Soon

Reputed to be the best stage show ever to tour Canada, and the equivalent of the most successful Broadway smash hit, Canada's already famed Army Show is due to arrive on the West Coast shortly, and will appear in Victoria at the end of the month.

Though approximately half the performers are talented army youngsters, the show is no amateur production, for listed among the personnel are the country's top entertainers from radio, writing and stage, who are now in uniform.

Headline personalities from the Sunday night radio show of the same name are included. Sergeant Frank Shuster and Johnny Wayne did almost all the writing, while Jack Arthur handled the production end. Commanding officer is Major Victor George, who is well known on Canadian air waves. The orchestra and musical arrangements are being handled by Captain Geoffrey Waddington and Captain Bob Farnon, while Aida Broadbent is in charge of the training of the C.W.A.C. chorus girls.

Captain Frank Squires, former station manager of CKWX, has arrived in Vancouver as advance man, and publicity for the show, which is scheduled to play in over thirty civilian theatres and army camps across Canada, will be underway shortly.

Performances for the general public in Victoria will be held on June 29, and due to public demand, possibly on June 30, as well.

Higher Prices For Yearlings

LONDON, June 8 (CP).—The love of fine horses still burns in Britain—a country approaching its fifth year of war—and breeders are perpetuating the best strains in spite of wartime handicaps.

"Feature of the 1942 bloodstock sales was the higher prices commanded by yearlings which averaged £391 ($1,739.95), an advance of 60 per cent of 1941 prices.

In all classes there was a turnover of 1,164 lots at public auction for a total of £445,569 ($1,982,782.05), the authoritative Bloodstock Breeders' Review reported. This turnover was in five major and two secondary sales, conducted by the Tattersall Agency in Newmarket.

If figures were available for private sales in 1942, the total of all sales would be approximately £500,000 ($2,225,000), The Review stated.

Most important trans-Atlantic sale was that of Pont L'Eveque, 1940 Derby winner, to Raul Chevalier in Argentina, owner of the internationally famous Haras Ojo de Agua.

Pont L'Eveque made a successful crossing to Argentina.

Highlight of the 1942 sales season was the dispersal of the widespread bloodstock interests of the late Lord Glanely. The executors of Lord Glanely's estate sold the entire bloodstock holdings for £115,000 ($507,750).

Marshall Field in July offered at auction his entire English stud with exception of his famous mare Black Ray, which later died.

Junior, Juvenile Baseball Leagues Being Organized

With seven minor baseball clubs reported ready for action and additional entries expected before the Thursday deadline, officials of the Victoria Baseball Association are moving ahead with plans for the youngsters to commence their 1943 diamond activities.

From present indications, a four-team junior and under age [illegible] fifteen and under age limit, is ready to function, and three clubs are reported anxious to perform in the fifteen and under juvenile setup.

Probable clubs include: Juniors, James Bay Athletics, Shamrocks, Oak Bay, Victoria West. Juveniles, Royals, Oak Bay Sluggers, St. Louis College.

Bill Griffin, a member of the executive of the Victoria Baseball Association, will be chairman of the minor league, and all entries should be submitted to him at 522 Victor Street. The entry deadline is tomorrow. Players' ages are taken from June 1.

Leslie Lineham, seventeen, of Ilford, Essex, went to join the R.A.F. The medical examiner told him he had something in his eye. He did. It was a marble and it had been there for ten years, but doctors removed it easily.

At the Theatres

ATLAS THEATRE There are seven hit songs in "Star-Spangled Rhythm," which will end tonight at the Atlas Theatre. They are "That Old Black Magic," "Sharp as a Tack," "Old Glory," "A Sweater, a Sarong and a Peek-a-Boo Bang," "I'm Doing It for Defence," "On the Swing Shift," and "Hit the Road to Dreamland," all of them written by Harold Arlen and Johnny Mercer. More than forty stars are in the cast.

CADET THEATRE "The Orchid Lady" is the flattering title bestowed on Kay Francis by her film fan admirers in Mexico. Miss Francis received the compliment during production of "Between Us Girls," Universal's modern comedy in which she appears with co-stars Diana Barrymore and Robert Cummings. The picture will end tonight at the Cadet Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE Based on the Gregor Ziemer best seller, "Education for Death," the film, "Hitler's Children," now at the Capitol Theatre, tells the tragic story of a boy and girl who are trapped in the sinister web of Nazism and who sacrifice their lives to bring the truth to others. The cast of this production by Edward A. Golden includes such top players as Tim Holt, Bonita Granville, Otto Kruger, H. B. Warner, Lloyd Corrigan and Gavin Muir.

DOMINION THEATRE Jack Benny, court jester to the nation, is at his hilarious best as he takes a turn for the worse and becomes "the Meanest Man in the World," in the uproarious 20th Century-Fox comedy, now showing at the Dominion Theatre. Priscilla Lane is co-starred and Rochester heads the supporting cast.

YORK THEATRE Musical scoring of "Meet John Doe," produced by Frank Capra and Robert Riskin for Warner Bros. release, is by Dmitri Tiomkin, noted composer. The Tiomkin score blends the folk music of every section of the nation. Recording was by an augmented symphony orchestra under direction of Leo Forbstein. The picture starring Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck will end tonight at the York Theatre.

How It Started----

By JEAN NEWTON

JUNE

"Then if ever," wrote the poet of June "come perfect days."

Postwar planners, who seem to have thought of everything to make us cozy, have been guilty of an amateur and mean omission—they have neglected to provide for the reformation of the calendar so that we shall have an all-year June.

Yes, June is that month of months, the period of the year when Mother Nature rises to the flush of intoxicating sight and scent, and when Genus Homo, following that mating impulse thousands of years e-rooting in his nervous system and blood stream, reacts more instinctively than ever to this greatest urge of them all.

Just why June is so-called is moot. It is conjectured that it was after the Latin name Junius; that it is associated with the consulate of Junius Brutus; that it commemorates Juno, Roman protective genius of women.

When the Saxons wanted a name for June, they did not concern themselves about origins; they called June Lida-Oerra—Joy Time—and they let it go, as we should, at that.
